Chouteau for union pay scale

The question of whether township officials have a moral or political obligation to hire card-carrying union workers for contracted work or whether they need only pay union-scale wages for the work was the

ERA voting today?

Postponed yesterday, an Illinois House vote may occur today on ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Governor James R. Thompson, an ERA advocate, asked for the delay to give more time to contact legislators, urging that they vote to ratify, with 38 states needed by next March if the amendment is to be added to the U.S. Constitution, Illinois would be the 38th.

The governor is asking Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal to stop calling lawmakers. O'Neal contacted some legislators Tuesday and asked them to vote "no" on ERA.

O'Neal commented, "I didn't think in a confidential conversation with a few legislators it would be inappropriate for me to let them know I've not changed my position. Unfortunately, it wasn't confidential, obviously, and evidently it brought embarrassment to the governor. For that, I'm deeply sorry."

Only about 100 ERA advocates were present to vote yesterday. Under a three-fifths vote in the 177-member House, 107 affirmative votes are needed.

topic of a lengthy debate at the Chouteau Town Board of Trustees' regular meeting Monday night.

The disagreement developed after Trustee Tommy Johnson made a motion that the township accept the low bid from FHT Fencing Co., 2615 Pine St., to install a fence around the new town hall and community center building's air conditioning units for $379.

Trustee Dudley Luebbert said he did not know if the workers were union members and suggested that it be investigated before a contract is awarded.

A letter was read from the Department of Labor which stated that, under the Davis-Bacon Act, any employees of firms to which contracts are awarded must be paid the prevailing wage rates for that type of work in the area.

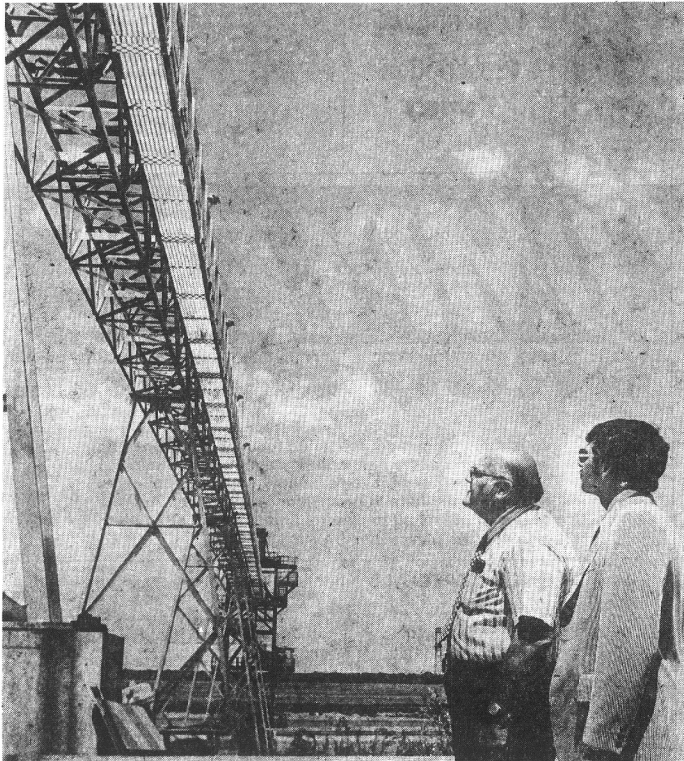

Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks who said he did not want to become involved in a "union-versus-non-union" dispute, commented he talked to officials of FHT Fencing and were told they had no employees and that the company owners would do the work.

Luebbert said he felt the township should accept the $330 bid from Granite City Glass, which has union employees, even though it would cost $151 more.

Johnson said the FHT Fencing company meets the Department of Labor requirements and can do the work at a savings of $151 to the taxpayers.

He said he felt the town board's primary responsibility to the taxpayers was to operate the government at the lowest possible cost, within legal guidelines, and stated, "If we are going to go only for union labor, I will tender my resignation."

Venice bridge taxes saved

By MICK STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

A saving $18,000 to $20,000 in taxes paid by the city of Venice to the state of Missouri on the Venice-owned McKinley Bridge has been accomplished through objections before the Missouri Tax Commission, members of the Venice City Council were informed Tuesday night.

Thomas Fields, bridge manager, told the aldermen that the tax commission has ordered a substantial reduction in a new assessment on the bridge which had nearly doubled the previous bridge valuation.

The tax commission responded after Fields, Venice Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold and Joseph Brooks, consulting engineer for the bridge, appeared at a hearing before the Missouri Tax Commission in Jefferson City, Mo.

The officials explained that while traffic volume and revenue is increasing in the bridge operation, a substantial amount of income is being spent on bridge repairs.

The appearance before the commission followed an assessment increase from $499,000 to $900,000 for the 1977 tax year. The rise in valuation would have increased the Venice tax bill on the bridge from about $22,000 to $56,000, the city officials said.

As a result of the hearing, the tax commission cut back the $900,000 assessment to one of $855,000, which represented an increase of $56,000 over the old assessment instead of the original boost of $431,000.

On the basis of the reduced valuation, the city's tax bill will be about $38,000.

Schuenke leads industrial drive

The Tri-Cities Area United Way Industrial Solicitation to continue dual service as township supervisor and county board member passed the Illinois Senate this week after earlier approval by the Illinois House.

Governor James R. Thompson said the cities are particularly interested in industrial and business development and that "we would love to attract business and small industries that would provide employment."

Mayor Sasyk said yesterday's meeting was called to discuss "some kind of a structural plan under which the three cities, (Granite City, Venice and Madison) and the Port District can combine their efforts to use the land and building facilities."

Thus far the three cities have filed letters of intent with the General Services Administration to acquire the land. Each city has filed such notice of intent as individual requests, and also have filed a joint letter of intent to apply for the land as a combined unit.

The Port District and the Madison and Venice School Districts also have expressed interest in acquiring part of the land. Each city has filed such notice of intent as individual requests, and also have filed a joint letter of intent to apply for the land as a combined unit.

Sasyk said yesterday that further meetings are to be held with the Port Board and the three cities, along with their attorneys, "to see what we can work out in way of a structure by which we can join in operation of the area."

He said the cities are particularly interested in industrial and business development and that "we would love to attract business and small industries that would provide employment."

Federal probe —fading away?

When three indictments of public employees and officials were announced this spring, there was speculation that more indictments might follow quickly from the large and long Springfield District federal grand jury Madison County area investigation.

Now that the trip is about to go on trial next week, no further indictments have been announced and there is speculation that many phases of the investigation may fizzle.

Providing grist for the rumor mill, it was learned this week

Chiropractic rights petition

Thousands of doctors of chiropractic, their families and their assistants, on behalf of March, Inc., a chiropractic political organization, will "speak for the rights of chiropractic patients" July 3 in Washington, D.C.

"The 40,000,000 chiropractic patients in America and the chiropractic profession request that chiropractic services be included in all federal health programs on an equal basis with other health professions," a spokesman said.

"Chiropractors are licensed in all 50 states, but chiropractic care for taxpayers is not fully included at the present time in all federal health legislation."

"Patients feel this discriminatory situation represents laxation without representation, since their tax dollars are used to support federal health programs and yet they have to pay extra for some of their chiropractic care. "During the past three weeks, hundreds of thousands of patients have lent their support to petitions calling for inclusion of chiropractic services in all federal health programs. The petitions are being collected throughout the U.S. at a rate of 25,000 a day. They read as follows:

"We petition our president, senators and congressmen to support and vote for federal legislation that shall include and provide for a freedom of choice of doctors and health care; the freedom to have full and complete chiropractic health care provided in or out of hospitals just as medical, surgical and osteopathic care is provided in all programs such as national health and accident insurance, Medicare, Medicaid, Veterans Administration and Civil Services."

Parks airport road-terminal plan advances

Bi-State Development Agency Chairman John Brawley and St. Clair County Board Chairman Victor P. Canty announced Tuesday that Bi-State has received preliminary approval from the U.S. Economic Development Administration for a grant to improve facilities at the Bi-State Parks Airport near Cahokia.

The $2.9 million, 300-acre project is to receive approximately $2 million from the EDA and $400,000 each from Bi-State and the Illinois Transportation Department's Division of Inland.

It provides construction of a new access road into the airport, a grade separation at the intersection of the new access road and the Missouri Pacific Railroad mainline tracks, water and sewer system improvements, and construction of a new airport terminal building.

The project was initially authorized by the Overall Economic Development Committee of the St. Clair County Board.

The committee reviewed and evaluated four county projects with potential for improvement of the local economy prior to authorizing the Bi-State Parks Airport project in 1977.

Since that time, Bi-State, St. Clair County, the southwestern Illinois Planning Commission and the Illinois Department of Transportation have worked closely with local-level, officials, state legislators and Congressman Melvin Price to secure project approval from EDA.

The EDA approval authorizes Bi-State to prepare and submit an application for project funding construction scheduled to begin in the spring of 1979.

A report prepared by the southwestern Illinois Planning Commission estimated that the project could eventually accommodate light manufacturing and aviation-based industries employing more than 3,000 persons.

The report noted that commitments or statements of interest have also been received from ten businesses and industries, subject to completion of the proposed road and facility improvements.

The Federal Aviation Administration is also supporting the project and has tentatively committed further funding for internal service road and aircraft apron improvements following the EDA construction.

Thompson reverses his field on salaries

By AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — At one point in his administration, Gov. James Thompson thought he was strong enough politically to withstand criticism of his support for proposed salary increases.

Obviously, he doesn't think so any longer.

Now Thompson has switched on the issue, and is so doing blasted his opponent, Democrat Michael Bakalis.

Many voters, especially those who do not follow politics closely, were upset with the governor's early plug for a raise.

Even before he assumed office, Thompson talked about "financial sacrifice" and said six years without a pay raise was too long for anybody.

He appointed a commission which recommended an increase to $75,000 from $50,000. "The 50 percent (increase) comes to 5 percent per year over 10 years, rather modest," he said in February.

The governor said recently he was opposed to pay increases for two reasons: The public is opposed to the raises and the raises are inflationary.

Although political considerations are the governor's right to adopt a new position on the issue, they question his slap at Bakalis.

Thompson said Bakalis favors a salary increase for legislators.

To support his claim, the governor cites a Feb. 14 radio interview in Jacksonville in which Bakalis said:

"I would be much more willing to entertain pay raises for legislators first as opposed to elected officials."

"I don't think I can put myself on a specific figure. There's no doubt that they are full-time legislators now. They are here very, very often. All kinds of special sessions and everything else and for many individuals it is a sacrifice financially and I think that is more reasonable to entertain. But I can't give you an exact figure. I think we have to look at what would be reasonable."

Thompson and Bakalis can debate whether that quote means Bakalis favors pay raises for legislators.

Informing of Thompson's statement that Bakalis favored raises, Bakalis responded angrily: "This is an outrageous statement; in fact, it's a lie."

Congress studies primary changes

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — A wide variety of proposals pending in Congress would change the presidential primary system.

Austin Ranney, formerly of the University of Illinois, has written a scholarly analysis of the proposals for the American Enterprise Institute.

Although at least 250 bills have been introduced in Congress this century and none has passed, he suggests federalized primaries are being discussed more seriously now than ever before.

One reason for the discussion, it seems, is the growing realization that Jimmy Carter is President today because he best understood the primary system in 1976.

While Mr. Carter is credited for maneuvering through the primaries skillfully, few of the politicians think that has much to do with the merits of whether he should be President.

As Mr. Carter slides in the popularity polls, speculation increases that he will be a one-term President and perhaps be challenged in his own Democratic Party.

Eugene McCarthy made a visible primary challenge to President Lyndon Johnson in 1968, as you recall, and Johnson dropped out of the race.

The primaries produced the Democratic candidate in 1972, Sen. George McGovern, and Ronald Reagan's significant challenge to President Gerald Ford in 1976.

Virtually no one thinks the present system of primaries in 30 states all with different rules and regulations — is the best possible system.

"It's a foolish system," says Alex Seith, the Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator who has worked for years on the delegate selection process to national conventions.

"It's unfair in the sense that the system is pure happenstance," he says. "Three states come early — Iowa, New Hampshire and Florida — and none represents a cross-section of the country."

"More delegates were chosen on June 6 than any other day, but the primaries were scattered from one coast to another with one stop in the middle (California, New Jersey and Ohio)."

"Personal politics is good. I like to do it myself — but we should not put that much weight on New Hampshire."

"When I was attending Yale, my roommate was from New Hampshire and he would regularly get postcards from all over the world from Estes Kefauver when Kefauver was seeking the nomination."

"That's so far removed from the merits we need to change the system."

The most dramatic change would be to switch to a national primary whereby the candidates would be nominated without any convention.

In his article, "The Federalization of Presidential Primaries," Ranney states the national primary idea first was introduced in Congress in 1911.

Rep. Albert Quile, R-Minn., has introduced a bill proposing the national primary be held for the 1980 election. Under its provisions, if no candidate received 40 percent of the vote in the primary, then a runoff would be held.

His bill also would require the vice president to run separately, and a candidate could not run for president and vice president at the same time.

While some politicians might scoff at the proposal, Ranney cites a national poll which shows 68 percent of the public favors a national primary. By comparison, only 21 percent favors nominating candidates at conventions.

There are several proposals which fall under the label of regional primary.

Rep. Morris Udall, R-Ariz., has a bill which requires any candidate who receives federal matching funds for campaign costs to be on the ballot. Under his plan, a primary is optional. A caucus may be held during a specified period of time.

For example, during the Midwest regional, Illinois and Wisconsin might have primaries on different days, but they must still during a two-week period during March.

Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., has a similar proposal, but with more restrictions.

Under his plan, if a state holds a primary, it must be on a certain date. Also, each state would be reimbursed for expenses by the federal government.

Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., favors a regional primary with a different twist. He proposes that each state be required to hold a presidential primary. His bill also requires a closed primary, a system whereby voters would have to register their political affiliation in advance.

The federalization of presidential primary would affect elections at the state and local level, of course.

Illinois, which just passed legislation consolidating elections, most certainly would change its primary date to conform with any presidential primary. Voters would not be expected to go to the polls in March to nominate candidates for the legislature and then turn around and go the following month to vote for president.

Also, requirements for voting might also be brought into line with the federal regulations. If the federal government required a closed primary to be able to vote for president, then the state most likely would not have an open primary.

No agreement yet at church

With the 23-member board of Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church having been elected by the congregation in February, many of its members doubt that the bishop's removal of the board is valid.

Bishop Simon has named a six-member commission to serve until the patriarch's visit in September.

Courts have suggested action at the semi-annual meeting in July due to a dispute over dismissal or retention of the pastor.

Commission members are John Londoff, Mrs. Dorothy Beck, Slave Effimoff, Ernest Elieff, Mrs. Ruth Geroff and Dr. Vasil Vassileff.

Charged in auto burglary

John H. Hembree, 18, Cahokia, was arrested in Ponton Beach at 12:30 a.m. Wednesday and was charged with burglary of an auto.

Ronald Kagy, 3801 Lake Drive, lot 324, told Ponton Beach officers that he noticed someone around his car and he and his brother took a gun and went to the car to investigate.

They alleged finding a youth inside the car who jumped out as they approached and jerked something off his hand. A glove and a tire iron were found on the ground near the auto.

Kagy said he looked inside his car and noticed his CB radio had been removed from the dashboard and placed on the driver's seat. The dashboard was damaged.

The two held the youth at gunpoint while Kagy's wife called police. Ponton officers questioned the youth, who allegedly said he needed some money to get to a hospital.

SUES ROLLER RINK

Robert Earl Werner has filed a $25,000 lawsuit in Madison County Circuit Court against Starburst Skate Center, 3967 Lake Drive, and its operator Robert R. Robertson of Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park. He alleges that a wheel came off skates he rented from the center while he was skating there Nov. 2, 1977, and he fell and was injured.

Benefit social will aid damaged church

Members and friends of the Mitchell United Presbyterian Church next week are holding an old-fashioned ice cream social to raise funds to aid the Lutesville, Mo., Presbyterian Church.

The Lutesville church was severely damaged during the early morning hours of June 14 when an explosion at an oil distribution terminal near the center of town ripped through the community, leaving one person dead.

The benefit social is to be held on the Mitchell church grounds on East Chain of Rocks Road on Wednesday evening, June 28 at 7 o'clock.

Home-made ice cream, pies and cakes made by members and friends of the church will be served.

Donations for the rebuilding of the Lutesville church will be accepted and dedicated at that time.

The Session (governing body) of the Mitchell Presbyterian Church, responding to an appeal from the Presbytery of Elijah Parish Lovejoy, voted unanimously at its June 19 meeting to offer spiritual and financial support to the church at Lutesville.

It was felt that an ice cream social would involve more persons directly and generate a greater sense of participation in mission than would a simple financial gift.

All persons in the community are being invited to attend. In case of rain, the social will be held inside in the church's recently remodeled fellowship hall, the Rev. Jeffrey B. Cheadle said.

Files suit in husband's death

Evelyn Campbell, widow of the late Richard Dean Campbell, has filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court against the Norfolk & Western Railway Co., seeking compensation for her husband's injuries and death.

She alleges that he was injured while doing switching operations for the railroad Jan. 16, 1977, and died Jan. 12, 1978, leaving her and five children. The suit seeks $15,000 and just compensation for his injuries and for the loss to the family.

Free classes here for high school certificate

Free GED classes will be offered at Granite City this fall by Belleville Area College.

Funded by a grant from the Illinois Office of Education, the General Educational Development classes help students prepare to pass the GED test as the equivalent certificate of high school completion.

Classes will begin with pre-registration on Aug. 15, promptly at 7 p.m. at Granite City High School, Room 222. Pre-registration will end at 9 p.m.

Classes will meet from 7 to 9:45 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning Aug. 22 and continuing through Dec. 14. More information is available from Patty Evans, 876-7570 or 876-7571.

Four charged after fight

Four men were arrested at 10:23 p.m. Wednesday after a tavern fight in Madison County. Edward Riggins, 44, Cahokia, and John W. Riggins, 23, Memphis, Tenn., were released by Madison police after posting $35 cash on a disorderly conduct charge.

113 windows are broken

Vandals broke 113 windows at Mitchell School, 316 E. Chain of Rocks Road, and ransacked the interior of the school, it was discovered Monday.

Entry was believed gained through one of the broken windows. Paint was thrown in the hallways, potted plants were broken, ink was thrown on walls and floors and fire extinguishers were emptied in the building.

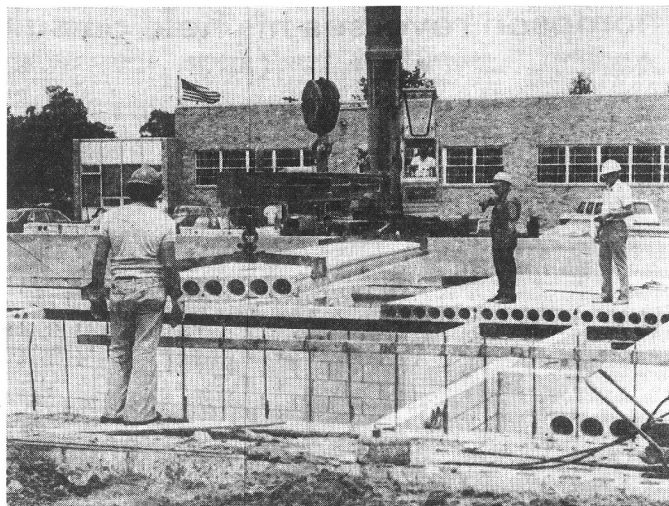

School officials estimate the windows will cost more than $1,250 to replace, not including the cost of labor.

Jack Travis Riggins, 20, and Edward L. Greshaw, 20, both of Cahokia, are being held at the Madison city jail pending court appearances on charges of aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Four men allegedly left Ray's Lounge, Sixth Street and McCambridge Avenue after a fight, and the Madison County Sheriff's department asked Madison police to assist with the call until they could get a car to the scene.

The four men got into a pickup truck and drove away from the tavern, but were stopped at Third and Highland by a Madison police officer who ordered them out of the car. The two charged with aggravated assault allegedly made threatening gestures toward the Madison police officer in addition to obscene and threatening remarks, according to authorities.

PRE-CAST SLABS of reinforced concrete are set into place Tuesday afternoon on the site of the new Granite City Police building which is scheduled for completion by December this year. The slabs will be the ceiling of the basement level and the floor of the ground level offices. The holes running through the slabs allow the use of less materials and lighter sections for handling. Bricklayers have begun laying brick on the exterior walls. (Press-Record Photo)

Punch card voting ok'd for November election

State Representative Joe Lucio's independent campaign for re-election will force the county to purchase punch-card voting equipment, the Madison County Board decided Wednesday morning in Edwardsville.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles estimated it would cost between $12,000 and $15,000 for the parts necessary to convert the present voting machines to the accept a third-party ticket and the labor to modify the machines would bring that total much higher.

While no figures on punch-card voting equipment were mentioned, she indicated the county could convert at this time to the punch method at a much lower cost than continuing the use of voting machines.

There have been published reports that Lucio may decide to withdraw his third-party candidacy, which were rebutted briefly by the board, but Lucio's wife was contacted by reporters after the meeting and she denied the reports.

Hagauer retained the county, who was unsuccessful in attempts to gain one of the two Democratic nominations for state representative in the primary election, filed with an independent state against Democrats Sam Wolf and Jim McPike and Republican Everett Steele.

Miss Bowles said the county will call for bids to be received July 7 and should be able to have the punch-card voting equipment in use by the November general election.

In other business, the board decided that employees who fail to appear for work during inclement weather will be "doctored" one day's pay, rather than being allowed to use a sick day.

During lengthy discussion, it was noted that on many snowy days, some offices in the courthouse have been very short-handed due to employees calling in ill.

The new agreement relieves the board chairman, Nelson Hagauer, from having to decide when the courthouse should be closed in inclement weather. The courthouse will be open in all weather, but only employees reporting to work will be paid, it was explained.

Hagauer retained the authority to close the building for tornadoes, earthquakes, natural disasters or other unusual circumstances.

The board passed several resolutions and actions related to construction of sanitary sewers in Nantux, Chouteau and Venice townships and voted to pay $551,665 in bills on the project.

The bills include $110,159 for engineering fees, as well as partial payment to the contractors, assessments for the stations, and fees for legal expenses. The money will be taken from the special sewer fund, for which $5 million in general obligation bonds have been sold.

The county's special sewer committee also was given authority to move fences, outbuildings or other obstructions in alleys and public ways during the sewer construction.

License agreements with several railroads for sewer construction were approved and the chairman of the board was given authority to negotiate agreements with other railroads for needed permission.

An agreement with the Metro-East Sanitary District to put sewers in their right-of-ways also was approved.

In an unrelated action, the board approved the rezoning necessary for Nichols Net & Twine Co. to move from Layton Road in Horseshoe Lake State Park onto State Route 35 near Arlington Heights.

Area aviation booming—but it may be an endangered species

Remarks by Arven H. Saunders, executive director, St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority, June 15 to the Gateway Chapter, Missouri Pilots Association: Although I suggested that my topic be entitled "The Next Ten Years," it could also be characterized "The Case of the Disappearing Airports." More about that later.

Another theme might have been "Aviation, An Endangered Mode." To set the stage, let me say a word about that.

Despite its success, aviation, in the view of many, is an endangered mode. This is a strange paradox, for the aviation industry in this country — including general aviation and international services — is a very strong national asset to both the private and the governmental sectors.

Air travel is no longer a luxury. It is a basic national transportation system which lubricates the operation of the rest of the economy.

The nation's scheduled airlines will carry more than 360 million passengers in 1978, and general aviation aircraft will carry more than 100 million passengers in inter-city travel. These are both new record highs.

The commuter airline industry, the fastest growing segment of U.S. aviation, will handle more than eight million passengers countrywide, and is expected to continue to grow dramatically for the foreseeable future.

Despite the prospects of strong growth, airports and aviation are in many ways a beleaguered industry.

In Illinois, for example, the Pollution Control Board is considering regulations that would adversely affect all airports in the state.

There is talk of airport curfews in many cities throughout the country.

The Federal Aviation Administration recently predicted that 120 busy private airports could close during the next ten years because of financial or other problems.

At many locations, the airports are being sued for noise damages to the tune of billions of dollars.

It is increasingly difficult to build new airports, even small new airports, let alone keep the ones we have.

In light of the unprecedented boom in airline traffic, in general aviation, and in the other segments of the aviation industry, this is ironic, even ominous.

According to FAA, since about 1969 the total number of facilities open to the public has been declining nationwide at an average of 30 airports a year.

This stems primarily from the fact that suburban growth beyond our cities puts our airports, particularly the privately-owned, public-use airports, in competition with housing developments and shopping centers.

The airports almost always lose. For example, just a few days ago we got the news that Chicago's Midway Airport had been sold.

The means that by year-end, more than 200 aircraft owners will have to find tie-down and hangar facilities elsewhere.

Quentin Taylor, FAA deputy administrator, recently warned of the implications in an address to the American Association of Airport Executives. Mr. Taylor said the current loss of reliever airports in the United States is "nothing short of a crisis condition right now."

It requires "priority attention" and "will be very much on our minds as we begin planning post-1980 airport development programs," he said.

Presently, the St. Louis region has eight reliever airports.

These are: Spirit of St. Louis, Civic Memorial, Bi-State Parks, Weiss, Arrowhead, Greve Coeur, Smartt, and St. Charles. Three of these are publicly owned — Civic Memorial, Bi-State Parks, and Smartt. And, of course, there is the possibility that Spirit of St. Louis will become publicly owned in the near future.

Of the other four, only St. Charles might be expected to remain beyond a 10- to 15-year period as an economically justified active airport.

Such facilities as Weiss, Arrowhead, and Greve Coeur might be abandoned as airports if more profitable uses for the land materialize, causing the owners to get out of the airport business.

Yet, as this trend of airport loss continues, there is the prospect of further increase in general aviation activities — along with the continued upgrading of all aircraft, and their requirements for more

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD sophisticated airport facilities.

According to FAA figures, total general aviation operations in the St. Louis area are now over 1,000,000 per year.

By the year 2000, studies by the consulting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. have forecast that total operations will exceed 3,400,000.

It is urgent, then, that suitable airport facilities be provided in the St. Louis area to accommodate this segment of the air transportation system.

According to the FAA, there are now approximately 1,500 general aviation airports in the St. Louis region.

By the year 2000, PMM projects this to be about 3,400.

In the process of providing general aviation accommodations to satisfy expected needs, the existing airports would all require major upgrading along with Thurs., June 22, 1978 Page 6 several new airports.

At the present time, only three of the reliever airports — Civic, Parks and Spirit — are large enough to satisfactorily accommodate a higher level of activity.

Even if new airports are constructed with adequate navigational facilities and runway lengths, in many cases there will be serious air space problems, the solution to which lies in theoretical "black boxes," but in well-planned, environmentally-acceptable, accessible airport sites.

It should be remembered that there has been only one new airport established in the St. Louis metropolitan area within the past 15 years — the Spirit of St. Louis Airport.

In fact, since World War II many more airports in the St. Louis region have been lost than have been gained.

Coupled with all the environmental concerns that must presently be satisfied, it will be difficult to obtain new airport sites in the future within a reasonable distance of the airport users.

It is even doubtful if the existing general aviation airports can be materially expanded.

It seems that the only airports that can be reasonably assured of remaining for use by general aviation in the future are Lambert, Spirit of St. Louis, Civic Memorial, Bi-State Parks, Smartt and St. Charles — the last two primarily due to their distance from populated areas.

Unless some government agency comes forth to establish some of the other fields as public airports, it is very likely that these will be the only airports available for general aviation usage.

Given the increasing sophistication of the general aviation fleet, the expected increase in both the number of general aviation aircraft and their operations, at least six general aviation airports will be needed by the year 2000 to accommodate the 3.4 million operations forecast.

In other words, each of the six airports must be able to handle approximately 600,000 operations per year.

Thus, the airport of most concern to the future of general aviation for St. Louis is Lambert-St. Louis International Airport, and Lambert has already taken measures to restrict some segments of general aviation.

These first restrictive measures primarily concern flight schools and private aircraft flying from the field for pleasure or training.

FAA figures indicate that general aviation operations, excluding air taxis, comprised 30 percent of all operations at Lambert last year — down from 36 percent in 1971.

It appears that the Lambert Commission will continue to force this trend until only 15 percent of total traffic is comprised of general aviation operations.

This small percentage is considered by FAA to be the hard-core GA operations — those that can't be driven off because their passengers are connecting with the airlines.

In addition to the restrictions already placed on general aviation at Lambert Field, the Air National Guard has, according to FAA sources, "voluntarily" reduced by about half — that is, from 20,000 to 11,000 — the number of operations it has from the field. And it is attempting to schedule flights so as not to conflict with airline peak hours.

With nearly all of its 50-year lease remaining, it is unlikely the military will agree to further cuts in its current level of 11,000 operations.

Lambert is already a high-density airport. According to an FAA official speaking in 1976: "Saturation is here. Those in the airline business certainly recognize that. Today we have ten airports with severe delays."

Four — O'Hare, Kennedy, La Guardia and National — have a limit on the number of operations.

"And the remaining six — Atlanta, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Denver, San Francisco and St. Louis — have substantial delays. Several of the remaining six could be threatened with quotas in the future."

While Lambert is about seventh in delay time today, by the 1980s FAA expects it to have the second highest delays in the country.

This portends even more restrictions to general aviation at Lambert.

Before providing further information in support of this point, I want to emphasize that the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority has sought throughout its existence to secure the best and most reliable analysis of Lambert's potential capacity.

The record to date shows clearly that we have done so. Unfortunately, this has meant that we sometimes have been the bearer of some unpopular information.

Police chase cyclists, two are arrested

Two young men were charged after Granite City police alleged chasing their motorcycles from 23rd Street and Madison Avenue into Lincoln Place at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Officers alleged seeing the motorcycles southbound at a high rate of speed and police used red lights and sirens to chase them to Niedringhaus Avenue and west into Lincoln Place. At Chestnut St., one man alleged to be Mark D. Edwards, 21, of 1754 Chestnut St., fell with the cycle and was arrested.

Another squad car chased the other motorcycle on Chestnut Street and into an alley in the 1700 block, where the cycle went out of control while attempting a sharp left turn and fell, police reported.

The rider got the cycle back up and was about to flee when he was pulled off the bike and was handcuffed, police alleged. They also reported the man shouted obscenities and threats to everyone around while he was being arrested.

Ralph E. Hamer, 21, of 1714 Chestnut St., was charged with disorderly conduct, speeding (60 miles-per-hour in a 30 mph zone), fleeing from police, no city sticker and having an improper muffler.

Edwards, who was charged with speeding, later was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for abrasions to both knees and both arms. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Man robbed in Venice

Patrick Curtis, 18, of O'Fallon, Ill., reported to Venice police at 8:23 p.m. Wednesday that he was robbed of $150 and beaten by four men in Lee Park near the miniature golf area.

Curtis said he did not know the men, but could identify them.

From a description, Venice police arrested a suspect at 8:47 p.m. Wednesday, saying he had been following the man pending court appearance on armed robbery charges. He was identified by the victim, police said.

According to the victim, he was struck in the head with a pistol and was held down by three men while one went through his pockets. Curtis declined medical treatment.

Boy, 15, charged after accident

A 15-year-old boy was charged with driving without a license after being involved in an auto accident in the 4100 block of Melrose Avenue at 10:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Witnesses said the auto the youth was driving was northbound at a high rate of speed when it went out of control, slid into the parked car of Lana Peterson, 4115 Melrose Ave., and then went into the yard at the Peterson home, striking a young tree and uprooting it.

The driver and about three teenager passengers got out and fled on foot from the scene. Police investigated, determined the owner of the vehicle and found the boy had taken the car without his father's consent.

is a specific state law to permit it.

Critics call the practice, found throughout the state, a "double dip" situation in which an individual receives double pay and holds two offices simultaneously.

Proponents say the decisions are made by the voting public, in full knowledge that the person is fitting two responsibilities into his daily schedule. When Hagnauer started his career in elective office, township supervisors automatically served on their county board, along with assistant supervisors.

Township and county board posts later were made into two separate positions that could be held by the same person. A subsequent Illinois attorney general ruling said the two offices should be held by different persons.

that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents are conducting new interviews with a number of persons previously interviewed, including witnesses and suspects. Such interviews reflect continuing federal interest. But they also indicate the possibility that real or supposed evidence — at this time — doesn't paint a sufficiently compelling picture to warrant jurors' attention, as contrasted with agents' attention.

NEWSPAPER EXPANSION project is progressing. This exterior view Wednesday shows how an addition will connect to the Press-Record building at 1815 Delmar Ave. A large truck is parked near the new building.

Diving lessons at Paddlers

Diving lessons will start Monday at Paddlers Swim Club, 2121 Johnson Road, according to Gayle McCormick, diving instructor. The lessons are open to the public.

Instruction will be given from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday through Friday, at the private swim club for a two-week period.

Cost of the lessons for Paddlers' members is $10. The fee for non-members is $15.

Prospective divers may register in advance at the pool office, or on the opening day of class.

A new one-meter Olympic approved diving board and stand has been installed at the pool.

Members of Paddlers competitive diving squad will begin daily practice sessions Monday, Mrs. McCormick, diving coach, said.

Divers 12 years and under will practice from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m., and those 13 and over from 10 a.m. until 11 a.m.

Preliminary plans for social activities in July and August were reviewed this week by Paddlers' board of directors.

Teen and pre-teen parties are being arranged for July and adult social events in July and August.

The board recently purchased 20 new lawn chairs for the poolside, it was reported.

Youth charged

Gregory R. Tingley, 18, of 4505 Kathy Drive, Pontoon Beach, was arrested by Granite City officers at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday on warrants alleging battery and criminal damage to property.

It is alleged Tingley struck Don Kelly, 2455 Cleveland Blvd., while Kelly was walking home from Granite City High School South, near the Wilson Park tennis courts, June 12. Tingley was released on a notice to appear in court.

resignation at the end of this meeting. That (FHT Fencing) is a qualified bidder.

Sparks suggested the bids be tabled for further investigation, but stated, "I want to make it clear. We are not holding it up because they are not union or non-union. If we advertise for bidders, we can only require that they pay the prevailing wage. If we reject this bid for being non-union, we better have some very good reasons to reject it."

Trustee Marion Sparks then commented the fencing is needed immediately and said delaying a vote on the bids would appear to be only because of the union question. He seconded Johnson's motion to accept the FHT bid.

Walter Sparks then incorporated a stipulation into the motion that any employees who may be hired by the successful bidder be paid at least the prevailing union wage.

Johnson and Marion Sparks voted in favor of awarding the contract to FHT and Luebert voted against it, saying, "There is no way I am going to vote against union labor."

Walter Sparks, who was not required to vote, declared the motion passed and noted there had been no attempts made to determine if the owners of FHT were union members.

ARRESTED ON WARRANT
Bobby J. Snyder, 26, of 2705 Denver St., has been arrested on a warrant alleging criminal trespass to a motor vehicle. It is alleged he borrowed the auto of Alan Johnson on Nevada Street Dec. 17 and did not return it. The auto was later recovered.

Are your temporarily idle dollars working for you—or are they just lying there gathering dust instead of interest?

Many Quad-City businesses maintain both checking and savings accounts at First Bank.

They transfer money in excess of immediate business needs from checking to savings. Business savings dollars earn the highest guaranteed interest rate allowed by Federal law—from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

'Pat on the back' for cutting indebtedness

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

The annual audit report for all Chouteau Township accounts was presented to the Chouteau Township Board of Trustees Monday night along with "a pat on the back" to Chouteau Township Highway Commissioner Wilfred "Bud" Eberhardt for cutting his department's indebtedness in half, from about $40,000 to $20,210, in his first year in office.

Kenneth W. Fessler, accountant for the R. C. Scheffel & Co., certified public accounting firm of Alton and Edwardsville, said Eberhardt's financial achievements "are rather remarkable, considering how far they were in debt," from the previous administration.

He stated the reduction "is quite an accomplishment to do in one year," and then gestured toward Eberhardt and said, "A pat on the back."

He commended the town board and officials and Diane Hartzel, bookkeeper, saying, "We find no exception to anything you are doing."

Fessler said it is impossible to predict what effect pending lawsuits against the township and unpaid taxes will have on the overall financial picture, but said it appears the township books balance, with a few minor exceptions.

It was noted that the township exceeded the budget in several categories, including telephone service. Town Clerk Patricia Polley noted the extra expenditures were unavoidable in order to move the telephones from the former offices into the new town hall building.

Fessler also noted the township had been penalized more than $350 for early withdrawals of long-term investments and Mrs. Polley explained the early withdrawal of one savings certificate was necessary when disbursements of federal grant funds were overdue and the contractor for the new township building was demanding an immediate partial payment.

Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks said he is proud of the township's investments and the interest made and noted the $350 penalty was only a small part of what was made through wise long-term investments.

"I do not think we could have earned as much if we had just put our money in a savings account. Things happen which you can't predict, but I still think we did very well this year."

The report showed the township earned $3,282 on its investments during the calendar year, including $233 from town fund investments, $2,619 from general assistance, $302 from the road and bridge funds, $220 from revenue sharing deposits and $6 from the deposit of anti-recession fiscal assistance act funds in interest-bearing accounts.

Another of the 11 recommendations in the audit report is eliminating the flat-rate travel allowances paid some township officials and reimbursing them on the basis of actual miles driven. The suggestion has been made in several previous annual audits, but has been rejected by the board.

Sparks stated, "They give me $50 a month for travel expenses. The other way, I could pay my expenses and make $75 easily, and no one could catch me. I could log more than $50 every month, easily."

Fessler responded, "We are not accusing anyone of embezzling anything. We just feel it is a better accounting practice."

Another recommendation was that the highway department should utilize the bidding process for more purchases to insure that the purchases are at the best price available. State statutes require bidding only when an item costs more than $2,500.

Fessler suggested bidding be utilized for many purchases costing less than $2,500. He also said the township can purchase some items at the county's bid price, since the suppliers to the county will normally honor their price for other governmental bodies.

He suggested daily time records be maintained on all full and part-time employees of the township and should be approved by the official in charge, prior to the payment of wages.

"There is nothing about this in the state statutes. We just feel it is good business practice," he noted the township has improved in this area in recent years, but said the auditors were unable to locate time records for the collector and assessor offices when making the audit.

The report also suggests the fidelity bonds covering the township supervisor, who also serves as the road district treasurer, be increased since the current amounts are "less than required by statute."

Other recommendations were: that the township's depositories be checked to determine that all investments are covered by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.; that all township equipment be permanently numbered for inventory; that payments to officials for trips costing more than $600 per person be recorded on proper Internal Revenue Service forms; that inter-fund "loans" on the books for several years be cleared up, and that checks received by the township be deposited promptly.

After the presentation, Sparks thanked the representatives of the Scheffel firm for "a courteous, thorough job the last two or three years in a row."

The board then voted unanimously to accept the audit report and consider the suggestions.

She was referring to a study the department is making on existing senior adult transportation systems, or the lack thereof. The study was made possible through a grant from the Illinois Department of Transportation.

"In some areas, other services for senior citizens have been forced to seriously curtail or completely shut down their operations because people can't get to them," Mrs. Oblinger said. "It's unfair. It has placed vulnerable people in an untenable situation."

The survey was developed with the cooperation of the University of Illinois Research Laboratories. Results will be computerized for analysis.

With this information complete, analysts in the Department of Aging will formulate recommendations on safety, accessibility, and possible legislative proposals. "The goal of our plan," Mrs. Oblinger said, "is uniform, efficient, accessible and feasible transportation services in Illinois."

228 women drivers at Bi-State

Bi-State Development Agency bus riders are no longer surprised when they are greeted by female drivers. Increasingly visible throughout the 161-route bus system in this metropolitan area are the 228 women who have permanently ended any notion that bus-driving is "for men only."

The number of women operators today contrasts with the period during World War I when fewer than a dozen female streetcar conductors were employed in the St. Louis area.

During World War II, despite an effort by one of Bi-State's predecessor independent companies to recruit women operators, only 10 women could be found operating streetcars. That number eventually dwindled to two after the war. Now, after an aggressive affirmative action program and increasing interest shown by women, the 228 female operators comprise 15 percent of Bi-State's driving workforce, one of the highest percentages in the nation. And their ranks continue to grow.

At Bi-State's largest garage, 82 operators in an assigned complement of 463 (18 percent) are women.

Equal status with their male peers was confirmed last summer when one of the Bi-State women qualified for the first time among the top 30 finalists in Bi-State's "roadeo," a test of driving skills leading to the American Public Transit Association's annual national competition.

Bi-State's maintenance division has also experienced an increase in female personnel over the years. Currently, women are serving in 24 repair, 18 custodial and cleaning, three toll clerk, and two traffic inspector positions, as well as one fuel and oil lubricant job at Bi-State.

With the area's transportation needs growing and Bi-State expanding its service, the agency will be adding more drivers in the coming months, officials say. And that will undoubtedly mean more women joining the ranks of transit employees — as bus operators and in the other phases of transit work.

$1,055 burglary

Items valued at about $1,055 were stolen from the apartment of Alice Hoffman, 1200 Nineteenth St., Apt. 1, between 2:30 a.m. and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Taken were a cedar treasure chest containing silver dollars, old coins and foreign coins, a gold jewelry box containing about $500 worth of jewelry and about $500 worth of women's clothing.

Entry was believed gained by opening an unlocked window.

Venice man's murder conviction reversed

The first-degree murder conviction of James King, 34, Venice, was reversed and remanded for a new trial Tuesday by the Missouri Court of Appeals.

King was convicted in the fatal shooting of his estranged wife, Geraldine King, 28, in a St. Louis ice cream parlor in September 1975.

In reversing the conviction, the appeals court also asked the Missouri Supreme Court to review its rule on jury suggestions for first-degree murder cases.

King appealed his sentence to life imprisonment because he said the trial judge failed to instruct the jury on the lesser crimes of second-degree murder and manslaughter.

The state Supreme Court requires such additional instructions be given in cases involving pleadings and evidence in first-degree murder cases.

King will not get a new trial until the high court acts in the case, officials said.

Mrs. King was shot by a man who entered an ice cream parlor in which she was a customer. She was wounded in the head and pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital.

The appellate court ruling said the court was forced to reverse and remand the murder case because of the Supreme Court ruling requiring instructions in the lesser charges, and said: "We do so with the firm conviction that a miscarriage of justice unwarranted by the facts."

Venice bridge

Current market value of the bridge is $21 million.

Fields said he feels, and the council concurred, that the commission acted fairly after hearing the appeal.

A demolition contract for eight structures was awarded to Crawley Wrecking Co. of East St. Louis, the low bidder at $4,896. Other bids submitted were Luster Wrecking, $8,840 and C. D. Peters Construction Co., $16,610.

The council voted to hold the next regular meeting on Wednesday, July 5, instead of Tuesday, July 4.

In other action the council approved placing safety bumps behind the Tri-City Grocery in the alley between Broadway and Lincoln Street, and Fourth and Fifth streets, and approved permits for the Newport Homecoming parade on Saturday, Sept. 2 at 11 a.m. and a Madison Housing Authority parade on Friday, Aug. 18.

Mayor Ebersold said, "I am keeping in close contact with State Senator Sam Vandalbarn on the so-called 'pot hole bill'."

He told me it has passed the House and is on the second reading in the Illinois Senate. We have several streets in bad condition, and if this bill passes, we can combine our money with what we will get from other sources and will be able to put three inches of asphalt on all the streets in the city."

Schuenke

served as an Industrial Division unit chairman for the past three years.

"His ability and talents, combined with those associated with his unit and other Industrial Division unit leaders, moved the Industrial Division contribution level from $241,386 to $415,379 during this period," Donovan added. "We know he is a capable and dedicated United Way volunteer and that his efforts will strengthen our total effort substantially."

A graduate of Carroll College in Waukesha, Wis., with a bachelor of science degree in accounting, Schuenke joined A. O. Smith in 1965, arriving in Granite City in 1968.

He has a long record of community involvement through past volunteer service with Rotary, Kiwanis, the Chamber of Commerce, YMCA and Boy Scouts.

He is currently active in professional associations and volunteer community service, in addition to his continuing United Way effort.

His participation includes the National Association of Accountants, Taxation Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Tax Committee of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, and Legislative Affairs Committee of the Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association.

Howard and Corinne Schuenke have one daughter, Gayle, attending the University of Utah, and two sons, Marc of Laramie, Wyo., and Tom of Akron, Ohio.

John Gamble dies at 71

He was born in Macoupin County, Ill., and resided in this area several years prior to moving to St. Louis five years ago.

Mr. Gamble was employed by the Shelton Electric Co., in Des Moines, Iowa, and retired in 1969.

He was a member of Trinity Masonic Lodge 208 of Davenport.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Dora Gamble; one son, Glen Branding of Laclede, Mo.; three daughters, Mrs. Robert (Bonnie) Shays of Arnold, Mo., Mrs. Howard (Delores) Deever, Monroeville, Pa., and Mrs. William (Millicent) Guerri of St. Louis; three sisters, Mrs. Earl (Vivian) Little of Mesa, Ariz., Mrs. Lester (Lucille) Webb of Granite City, and Mrs. Henry (Pearl) Kepling of Leitchfield, Ill.; and 16 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

3-yr. sentence in stabbing

Michael K. Koth, 20, of 2722 Saratoga St., has been sentenced to serve three years in prison after pleading guilty to aggravated battery in connection with the March 12 stabbing of Charles E. Earls, 32, of 4536 Highway 162.

Earls, his wife and two friends were getting into their auto at Niedringhaus Avenue and Chestnut Street when an auto blocked their car from leaving. When Earls asked the driver to move the auto, a passenger allegedly got out and hit Earls' forehead, face and left lower abdomen with a knife.

A charge of armed violence against Koth was dismissed when the aggravated battery charge was accepted by Circuit Judge Harold R. Clark, who pronounced the sentence.

Minor fire damage to a dumpster inside the Hoyt Plant of N.L. Industries, 16th and Cleveland Blvd., was reported here Monday. Granite City firemen were called to the plant at 11:15 to extinguish a fire caused by burning insulation on wiring inside the dumpster.

Larry D. Turner, 22, of 2238 Iowa St., has been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court to serve 15 months in prison after pleading guilty to unlawful delivery of a controlled substance.

Turner was among 10 persons arrested in late April after an undercover drug investigation by agents of the Illinois Division of Investigation (DOI), earlier this year.

Circuit Judge Joseph J. Barr pronounced sentence.

Sentenced to 3-year term

James Legate, 22, of 1600 Third St., Madison, has been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court to serve three years in prison after pleading guilty to burglary. Circuit Judge Joseph J. Barr pronounced sentence.

Legate is one of three men Granite City police alleged catching inside Granite City Dental Lab, 1300a Nineteenth St., early March 6, after a silent burglar alarm was triggered.

Job classification study is proposed

A proposal to establish job classifications for secretarial and clerical employees of city departments will be studied by a special ad hoc committee to be appointed by Mayor Paul Schuler, it was decided by the City Council Tuesday night.

The suggestion was made by Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman, a member of the council's negotiating committee who said an effort to equalize salaries paid some of the secretaries and clerks under a regular schedule should be made.

Schuman and other aldermen noted that complaints are heard frequently from some employees who have longer service but are paid less salary than other workers in similar jobs.

"We have several women who have been with the city 10 or 12 years that are getting less salary than some who have been here only a short time," Schuman said.

Schuman made a motion that City Clerk Robert Stevens provide information to City

Treasurer Nick Petrillo to draft a job classification schedule for consideration by council members.

Mayor Paul Schuler told Schuman, however, that he did not believe it was Petrillo's job to make such a study and that he believes the council should retain someone experienced in personnel work to undertake the job.

"If you don't get someone experienced in this type of work then you'd better forget it," the mayor said.

Schuler agreed that a job classification schedule is needed.

Some council members suggested that the council take steps to hire someone to direct a classification study, but the mayor said he thought the council should look further into the matter before taking immediate action.

The aldermen then authorized the mayor to appoint an ad hoc committee to study the proposal and report back to the council.

Singing, songwriting double Dolly's fun

Dolly Parton, a singer-songwriter who has conquered the fields of pop and rock, as well as country, will be in concert this Saturday evening, June 24, at 8 o'clock at the Mississippi River Festival on the SIUE campus. Tickets are available at the MRF box office. Prices are $7.50 for reserved seats and $5 for lawn seats. A year and a half ago, John Rockwell wrote in the New York Times: "Dolly Parton is at the brink of a radical shift of direction — one that should, if there is any justice in the pop music heaven, make her one of the great stars of American entertainment." But authorities say this "radical shift of direction" was more of a natural evolution to more musical freedom, as can be heard on her 1977 album, "New Harvest, First Gathering."

The album was recorded both in Nashville and Los Angeles and was produced, for the first time, by Dolly herself. Her latest album, "Here You Come Again," contains the hit title song plus another single hit, "Two Doors Down." Both albums are a departure for a performer who's won the Country Music Association's award as best female singer in 1975 and 1976.

Much of her song material is drawn from her early years. Before she could read or write, she would make up songs and ask her mother to write them down.

At seven, she started playing the guitar, a homemade one at first and then a little Martin, a gift from an uncle. She and two of her sisters sang together in church. By the age of ten, Dolly was singing on the radio — the Cass Walker show from Nashville. She even cut a record while in her early teens. In high school in Sevier County, she started to play the snare drum in the marching band. But her prime interest was country music. At the age of 18 she left home to move permanently to Nashville — the day after high school graduation.

International steel agreement sought

Lewis W. Foy, newly-elected chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute, asserted Tuesday that the long-term solution to global steel industry problems lies in multilateral negotiations leading to an international steel agreement among the governments of steel-producing nations. In his first major statement as head of the AISI and its more than 60 domestic member companies, including National Steel Corporation, third largest steelmaker, Foy told the International Conference on Trade and Investment in Washington that while the U.S. government's "trigger price" mechanism may prove to be a suitable temporary aid in enforcing current trade laws, "we need more permanent measures to cope with trade issues and problems."

He called for an immediate strengthening of American trade statutes, warning that "our country's defenses against unfair import pricing and unfair trade practices are woefully deficient."

He said those laws must be "beefed up so they can and will be enforced effectively."

However, for the long term, Foy declared, "It's the view of the American industry that our primary reliance must be on our government's determination to successfully reach an international agreement with other nations of fair conditions for steel trade."

"Since all other major steel-producing and steel-consuming nations are at least as concerned about the steel situation as we are, I think the time is ripe for steel sector talks."

The AISI chairman stressed that the aim of such an international agreement is not to form "a global steel cartel," as some people fear. He said the American steel industry "strongly opposes" any such arrangement.

Foy made his remarks during a panel discussion on "Balancing Economic Interests: Trade Competition and Protectionism" during the second day of a conference of government, business and labor leaders from the United States, Europe and Japan.

Foy, who also is chairman and chief executive officer of Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's second largest steel producer, stressed four main points:

— "International trade competition is good. It's healthy, and we're in favor of it."

— "The American steel industry is not 'protectionist'."

— "The pursuit of anti-dumping remedies, either through the government's trigger price mechanism or conversion procedures, is not 'protectionism.'"

— "We believe that the long-run solution for global steel industry problems lies in multilateral negotiations leading to an international steel agreement."

As for the last point, he explained that the AISI believes that "the world steel industry will function more efficiently if information and data on steel capacity, production, and trade are promptly made available to all concerned parties."

To this end, he said, "The kind of international steel agreement we have in mind should set up an effective international, government-based mechanism for the collection and dissemination of this information."

River here to be mapped

The SUE department of earth sciences, geography and planning has received a $6,813 grant from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for a cartography project.

The grant will be administered by Noble Thompson, assistant professor of earth sciences, geography and planning.

The Great River Resource Management Study (GREAT) calls for development of a river system management plan for the Mississippi River from the mouth of the Ohio River at Cairo to the head of navigation at Minneapolis.

The study has three divisions. GREAT I extends from Minneapolis to Guttenberg, Ia.; GREAT II from Guttenberg to Saverton, Mo.; and GREAT III from Saverton to Cairo.

GREAT III is the portion of the study involving the expertise of SUE cartographers.

The department of earth sciences, geography and planning will produce two index maps and seven topic maps of the GREAT III study area for the Army Corps of Engineers. The area to be mapped will extend from Cairo to Mile 301 at Saverton and will encompass the Mississippi River and adjacent counties in Illinois and Missouri.

Index map No. 1 will be titled "Middle Mississippi River" and will extend from Cairo to the mouth of the Missouri River (Mile 195). Map No. 2, "Upper Mississippi River," will extend from Mile 195 to Saverton, Mo. at Mile 301.

A design of overlap of several miles will be necessary for both maps.

Map features will indicate river miles, an outline of the flood plain of the Mississippi River, outlines of counties in both states, and the labeling of specified cities and towns.

The two index maps will also identify locks and dams along the river and major tributaries and lakes.

The seven topic maps to be provided in the project include:

—Maps of major state highways, railroads, pipeline crossings, aerial crossings, and bridges across the Mississippi River.

—Index maps of color photographs available from the government.

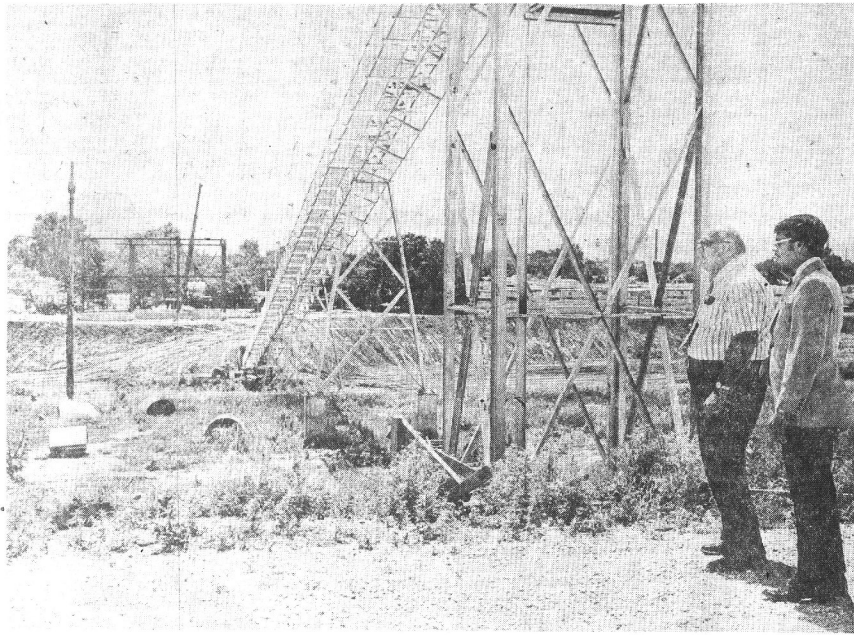

—Index maps of color infrared photographs available from the government.

—Maps of all cities, towns and villages adjacent to the flood plain of the river.

—Maps of government and private levees and all pumping plants in the flood plain of the river.

—Maps of the best major access points to the Mississippi River.

Maps of best launching points along the river.

RAIL-BARGE TRANSFER STATION in the left background will permit high-speed transfer of grain products from railroad cars into a concrete hopper for placement on the conveyor system in the foreground.

Seek reversal on beef imports

Illinois Farm Bureau President Harold B. Steele wired President Carter Tuesday, urging him to reverse his decision to increase foreign beef imports. Steele said cattle prices to American farmers have fallen steadily since that decision.

Steele told the president: "You must reverse your decision to increase the amount of foreign beef coming into this country. Beef cattle prices have been falling steadily since your decision to increase beef imports."

"The decision to bring in more foreign beef has had no effect on the prices consumers pay for beef today."

"But you have, by your action, told beef producers that you intend to beat down prices when they make a profit, and you're now seeing the result of your message to them."

"If you continue to take unwelcome steps simply to boost your sagging political image, you'll get no support from farmers."

"And, as farmers cut back beef production, beef prices that consumers will have to pay will go even higher in the future as the supply of quality American beef dwindles. Then the consumers will learn self-serving your decision to increase imports has been."

"If you are really sincere in wanting to serve the American people, reverse your beef import decision now."

Steele said that since the period of speculation and decision which led to the President's announcement of increasing beef imports by 200 million pounds, American farmers' cattle prices have dropped sharply from a top of about $63 a hundredweight to about $53. That drop has virtually wiped out any gain that "financially-distressed cattle producers" have had since the first of April, he asserted.

Harold Hille dies at 59

Harold H. Hille, 59, of 1107 Merchants, Effingham, Ill., father of Miss Ruth Hille of St. Louis, who is employed in Granite City, died at 5 p.m. Tuesday at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

He was a lifelong resident of Effingham, and was a self-employed carpenter.

Also surviving is his wife, Mrs. Esther Hille.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

NASA history offers sought

Writers and researchers will have an opportunity to participate in a National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) history program.

Unsolicited proposals to write a history of any aspect of NASA's work will be considered any time, but the current interest is in named spacecraft medical aspects, lunar exploration, origins and development of the space shuttle, histories of the Langley, Ames and Lewis Research Centers and origins and results of NASA programs from 1958 to 1968.

The expected audience for the histories is a mixed group, including NASA personnel, historians of technology and science, the educated layman and the news media.

A research guide is available in the SUE Office of Research and Projects located in Room 2022 of the John S. Rendleman Building.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

FILES INJURY SUIT

Ann Kastelic has filed a two-count lawsuit in Madison County Circuit Court, seeking $20,000 each from Kentucky Fried Chicken, 1506 Johnson Road, and from Leonard Yellow, owner or operator of the establishment. She alleges she fell and was injured outside of the store April 25, 1978.

Earns DDS at Northwestern

Kevin Thornberry, son of Mrs. Dorothy Goff of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, has received the Doctor of Dental Surgery degree from Northwestern University Dental School in Chicago.

The degree was awarded at commencement exercises held during the weekend at Levee Memorial Temple on the Evanston campus of Northwestern.

Public Broadcasting will spotlight Dunham

The Public Broadcasting System (PBS) will videotape a story featuring Katherine Dunham, world-renowned choreographer and anthropologist, university professor, and director of the Performing Arts Training Center (PATC) of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville East St. Louis Center, with the Dunham Dancers and the Dunham Museum in East St. Louis June 26-28.

The half-hour nationwide broadcast, scheduled during the second week in July, will feature a performance before a "live" audience in the Goshen Lounge of the University Center on the main SUE campus Tuesday, June 27, at 12:30 p.m.

The performance, which is open and free of charge to the public, will include choreography by Miss Dunham, as well as Mor Thiem, Senegalese master drummer and faculty member of the PATC.

The program will be produced for the McNeil-Lehrer Report on PBS by Ken Witty of WNET, Channel 13, New York. Emil Ardoloni, producer of the PBS "Dance in America" series, will direct choreography for the videotaping session in the Goshen Lounge.

Additional TV reporters, filming crew and engineers will come from New York for the three days of shooting at SUE and in East St. Louis. Persons scheduled to be interviewed include Charlayne Hunter-Gault, who achieved national recognition by being the first black student to integrate the University of Georgia.

Basically treated as a news story, the Dunham coverage will be a point of departure from the usual news format of the McNeil-Lehrer Report. It will demonstrate how the arts are being used as a vehicle for social change and awareness in a community that has traditionally been culturally deprived, according to Elizabeth Gentry Sayard, St. Louis production coordinator for the show.

Peace Corps—it's seeking volunteers

If you've ever had the yen to be an entomologist in Belize or a soil analyst in Swaziland and have a couple of years to spare, Andre Roualet can help you on the way.

Roualet is a part-time recruiter for the Peace Corps—a "strategy person," in the language of the federal government's Action organization.

Thumbing through a massive loose-leaf binder that contains titles and job descriptions for every one of the 1,400 or so jobs the Peace Corps is trying to fill in the 63 developing nations currently receiving Peace Corps volunteers, Roualet can help match one's skills and interests with a potential volunteer slot.

He says that after a period of relative inaction, the Peace Corps is gearing up its worldwide operations as part of a general rejuvenation of the entire Action volunteer service group.

Although Roualet is working out of SIUC's Office of International Education, he hopes to draw Peace Corps recruits from beyond the Carbondale area. He is a graduate student in the Department of Community Development.

"I think we'll probably get most of our recruits from among college-age persons," Roualet says. "But I'd like to try to reach everyone in Southern Illinois."

He says almost anyone with a sense of adventure and a genuine desire to help people could be eligible to join the

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Peace Corps.

There are no particular educational or training requirements. Although volunteers must be 18 or older, there is no upper age limit. The average age is 27.

Roualet emphasizes that successful Peace Corps volunteers must have "almost a fervent dedication to what they're doing."

"Two years is quite a commitment, and there are times when you feel awfully alone," he said.

Roualet knows about the high

and low points of the Peace Corps from personal experience. He spent two years working as a community organizer in northeastern Brazil.

Anyone who would like more information about the Peace Corps can see Roualet at Room C109, Woody Hall, or phone him at 433-3774.

He also urges former Peace Corps volunteers to get in touch with him. He'd like to use them as resource persons to field questions from potential volunteers.

Costello heading budget, allocation

Paul Costello, general administrative supervisor, Granite City Steel, has been appointed as Tri-Cities Area United Way budget and allocations committee chairman by United Way President William F. Winter, editor of Granite City Press-Record.

PAUL COSTELLO

"Paul has long served as a member of the committee serving also as a panel chairman in prior years. This appointment gives the Tri-Cities Area United Way help and leadership," Winter said.

Albert King, TCALW executive director, commented, "United Way budgeting is a process which attempts to meet many community needs privately, by providing privately-contributed financial support for human care services."

"The process takes into consideration the attitudes of the contributing public; the services provided by both governmental and voluntary human care service agencies; the needs of the community; and the financial resources available for financing United Way agency programs."

"The budget and allocations committee, along with the Priorities Committee, consists of a representative group of informed volunteers who operate on the policy that overall community needs and objectives should guide its interest, and transcend the interest of any one person or organization."

"The United Way budget process carries the following responsibilities: To define and identify social problems toward which agency services are directed, with subsequent review of those services to measure their cost and effectiveness."

"To utilize United Way campaign contributions to help balance the community's budget for a total program of human care services."

"To gear distribution of the United Way allocation to long-range plan which takes into account changing needs and changing ideas of how needs should be met.

"To feel equitably with the financial needs of United Way-funded agencies; and also to help guarantee that funds contributed to the United Way campaign are used in the best interest of the community."

Measure tree growth yearly

By WAYNE B. SIEBERT
Area Horticulture Adviser

Check annual growth of your trees to determine how well you are caring for them.

With adequate water, fertilization, and growth, younger trees should show from 12 to 16 inches of new twig growth a year.

Mature trees will produce 6-9 inches of new growth annually. If your trees are making average or better growth, you're doing a good job.

Bagworm eggs are hatching, but the young larvae are too small to cause much damage or be easily seen.

One application of carbaryl (Sevin), malathion or Bacillus Thuringiensis will control hatching bagworms.

Bacillus Thuringiensis is a biological control utilizing a bacteria that kills chewing insects when they eat leaves coated with the bacteria. The bacteria is harmless to warm-blooded animals and humans.

If cool weather delays the hatch, you may want to make another application in two weeks.

When aphids are a nuisance on shrubs and flowers, malathion is the most effective of the three products. If you are using the Bacillus Thuringiensis, you can mix malathion with it.

It is not necessary to add soap to a commercial spreader-sprayer with any of these products. Concentrate on thoroughly wetting all the foliage.

Red spiders are a good guess when evergreens develop a thin or off-colored appearance.

Red spiders are hard to see unless you use a magnifying glass or shake them onto a piece of paper. Hold a large piece of white paper under the limb and shake the limb with the paper and start to scurry around.

If you have to bruise up the whole shrub to find a few, then mites aren't the problem. When you find several from each limb, control is important.

Control is rather simple if you use dicofol (Kelthane), a manufacturer's directions.

Two applications, at two-week intervals, are recommended. The shrubs must be soaked with the spray mixture.

14 retired volunteers to be cited

An award ceremony at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville on June 30 will honor RSVP members who have contributed a year of volunteer service to their community.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program members to be honored on Friday of next week number more than 50, including 14 Quad-Cityans.

Lewis Krause, mayor of Collinsville and chairman of the board of the Southwestern Area Agency on Aging, will be the keynote speaker.

RSVP provides opportunities for persons 60 years of age or older to volunteer in not-for-profit agencies or proprietary health care facilities.

Sharon Sea, director of the area RSVP group, announced that the following local residents will receive awards: Victoria Alegre, Thomas Crawley, Alice Cruse, Oliver DeGuire, Johanna Gerald, Jane Harman, Frank Harris, Margaret Kruse, Julia Kruse, Jenny Moody, Viola Skaggs, Edna Wheat and Elmon Whitell, all of Granite City; and Catherine Couroux of Madison.

Utility seeking ways to reduce costs to its consumers

What is happening to utility costs?

Illinois Power Company currently is seeking to give customers a clearer understanding of the problems it is facing — and the effect on their bills.

Utility companies in a sense are monopolies, but primarily because of the investment required to build plants and construct transmission and distribution systems, IP says. Even so, it rates cannot be raised without justification.

Illinois Power's net plant investment is about $1,000,000,000.

If two companies served the same area, costs would be duplicated. Federal and state governments instead decided to restrict competition in the utility business, but also to establish regulatory agencies to protect consumers' interest, insure reliable service, maintain reasonable costs and limit the rate of return made by utilities.

All proposed rate changes are submitted to the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Only after an extensive analysis does the commission — appointed by the governor — decide what is fair and necessary. The process usually takes about 11 months. Executive offices are located in Decatur. This service area's IP headquarters are in Granite City.

IP serves about one-fourth of the state. It is engaged in the generation, transmission, distribution and sale of electric energy and the distribution and sale of natural gas.

Natural gas is purchased from five pipeline suppliers — Mississippi River Transmission Corp., Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., Trunkline Gas Co. and Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Co.

At a cost of $25 million, Illinois Power has developed underground storage fields to store natural gas that is not needed, to be withdrawn later, usually in extremely cold weather.

Generating capability of each electric power station is: Havana, 260,000 kilowatts; Wood River, 637,000 Kw; Vermilion, 186,000 Kw; Hennepin, 311,000 Kw; Baldwin, 1,810 Kw.

Peaking units (Stallings and Oglesby), 177,000 Kw. The total is over 3,400,000 Kw.

A nuclear station is being built at Clinton. In 1977, Illinois Power received 67.6 percent of its revenue from the sale of electricity and 32.4 percent from the sale of natural gas. Are residential customers using more electricity? Yes.

The average IP customer since 1961 has more than doubled the use of electricity, from 3,614 Kwh then to 8,290 in 1977.

What has caused the customer to use more electricity? It may be the standard of living. An example of change is the customer who may have replaced an old manual defrost refrigerator that was estimated to use 79 Kwh and cost $2.95 a month, with a new automatic defrost refrigerator that is estimated to use 205 Kwh and cost $7.79 a month.

If the customer has purchased a new home that is larger than the old one, it may cost more to heat and cool because of its size and design. Added electrical equipment also is a factor.

Does weather affect usage? It may increase or lower power and gas usage. Temperature affects both heating and air-conditioning bills. The velocity of wind also affects heating bills.

In the last two years — 1976 and 1977 — IP tallied record-breaking cold weather, which increased heating costs.

Meteorologists predict at least two more severe winters in the near future, IP says. Last summer, 1977, there was record-breaking hot weather. The peak demand by customers on July 15, 1977 was 2,846,000 kilowatts, which was greater than previous years. This was within one percent of IP's forecast for the growth of electric usage.

It is estimated that the demand for electricity will continue to grow about seven percent each year through 1982 — which means IP will have to continue to build power stations to meet customers' electrical usage.

What does it cost to build an electric generating station?

In 1964, it cost $102 per kilowatt of generation installed for Wood River Unit No. 5.

In 1975, it cost $192 per kilowatt for Baldwin No. 3.

In 1978, it is estimated that Havana No. 6 will cost $402 per kilowatt.

In 1981, it is believed that Clinton No. 1 will cost $932 per kilowatt.

For each new customer in the year 1981, Illinois Power will have had to invest about $10,000, if the customer uses six Kw of electricity. Air-conditioning alone accounts for about three or four Kw.

What has the average cost per Kw been for residential customers since 1961?

In 1961, a kilowatt hour cost the customer 3.68 cents. This amount of electricity would be used if one burned a 100-watt bulb for 10 hours.

The cost was gradually reduced to 2.32 cents per Kw/h in 1971 and is now 3.84 cents.

"The cost reductions to the customer were possible over the years because of long-range planning, construction of larger and more efficient plants, and cost control management," a spokesman comments.

Costs started an upward trend in 1972. There was a 10.6 percent rate increase in June 1977.

It takes almost one pound of coal to generate one Kw/h of electricity.

Reasonable cost costs have increased include higher mining costs, stricter mine safety regulations, rising transportation costs, high costs to reclaim strip mined land, and the cost of meeting environmental requirements.

The company's present electric rate schedules provide that it will pass along, to all classes of customers, increases or decreases in the cost of fuel used in the generating stations. The amount will be shown on monthly electric bills as FCA (fuel cost adjustment).

In 1966, natural gas was sold to IP customers for about eight cents per therm. In 1977, it was sold for almost 30 cents per therm.

This was the result of the Federal Power Commission approving a significant increase in the rate that producers of natural gas may charge interstate pipeline suppliers for newly-discovered gas.

Pipeline suppliers are allowed to pass on these increased costs to their distribution customers, such as Illinois Power Co.

IP, in turn, is allowed to recover these increased natural gas costs with no profit to the company. Effective with gas consumed on or after Dec. 1, 1976, these additional producer costs are reflected in the column marked "Purchased Gas Adjustment" on each bill.

After a period of time, these changes are included in the rates.

Construction expenditures for electric power generation have increased about 300 percent.

The primary difficulty faced in managing a utility is the large construction program required to provide future electrical capacity.

IP says the increase in fixed costs caused by this will necessitate at least two electric rate increases between now and the completion of Clinton Unit No. 1.

In order for the Illinois Commerce Commission to set the rate level sought, it must either include more construction work in progress in the rate base, or greatly increase the return allowed on its rate base, the utility concludes.

Alternatives to building power plants are:

Reducing summer usage. IP chose to increase rates in the summer from June 15 through Sept. 15, hoping the increased rate would reduce summer usage.

All of the rates are based on cost to serve and are designed to help customers understand the increasing fixed cost caused by the summer peak demand of electricity.

IP rates are still among the lowest of the major public utilities in the state.

A family's major utility costs are heating and cooling. Each can do the following:

— Insulate the home.

— Install storm windows and doors.

— Caulk and weatherstrip doors, windows and other openings.

These steps reduce winter heat loss, and prevent summer heat gain.

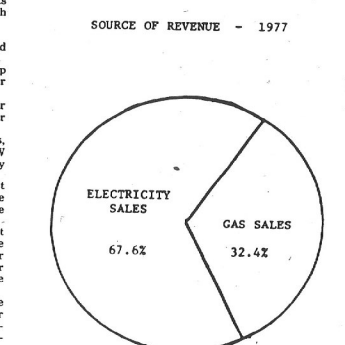

To help with these problems, IP has adopted the IEW program (National Energy Watch).

Trained representatives audit or inspect a home and advise where improvements can be made. This is a free service.

"Set the thermostat at whatever temperature you are comfortable, but remember that each degree increases your cost three percent," the spokesman notes.

"Adding moisture to the home in extremely cold weather makes you feel more comfortable at a lower temperature."

In conclusion, providing energy is our business, and using it wisely is everybody's business."

City hospitalization insurance cost rising

Granite City is confronted with a 61.5 percent increase in its hospital insurance coverage for city employees, a factor that would raise the premium payments for hospitalization to more than $385,000 a year, it was disclosed at a regular meeting of the City Council Tuesday night.

Notice of the increase has been received from Golden Rule Insurance Co. of St. Louis, which is the city's present hospital insurance policy, which claims a loss ratio of 99.1 percent in handling the city's hospital insurance during the last 24 months period.

Mayor Paul Schuler told the aldermen that he has arranged a meeting Wednesday, June 28, with representatives of the City of St. Louis, which has handled surveys, studies and coordination of the city's insurance program, to discuss the possibility of insurance coverage from other sources.

The increased premium assessed by the Golden Rule would be to become effective July 1.

Granite City now pays a premium of from $19,000 to $20,000 a month for its hospitalization insurance, City Clerk Robert Stevens told the aldermen.

This is approximately $240,000 per year. An increase of 61.5 percent applied against this would raise the annual premium to approximately $387,000 annually.

In fixing the amount of the increase, David Goldish of the group underwriting division of Golden Rule, told the city that increases in claims during the last two years "has been dramatic."

Goldish said in a letter of explanation that the percentage of increase was based on an average of claims for the two periods of July 1, 1976, to June 30, 1977, and from July 1, 1977, to the present, with current policies to expire the last of this month.

"Had we based our renewal rate strictly upon the last 12 months experience, the increase would have been higher than what it is," Goldish said.

"The paid loss ratio for the period (the last 12 months) was 112.5 percent and the incurred loss ratio 120.4 percent. Incorporating expenses, risk charge and trend factor, an increase well in excess of 61.5 percent was generated."

"Rather," he continued, "we based the renewal on the latest 24 months experience. For that period the earned premiums were $427,738 and the incurred claims $423,751, producing an incurred loss ratio of 99.1 percent."

"Assuming an inflationary trend of 20 percent per year, the period July 1, 1976, to June 30, 1979, will produce claims 34.2 percent higher than the period beginning June 1, 1976 and ending May 30, 1978." Allowing 17.5 percent for combined expenses and risk charge, Goldish said, "the loss ratio of 161 percent would result."

Schuler said that more detailed information as to claim ratios will be sought from the Golden Rule insurance firm before a decision is made on meeting the increased cost.

Robbed at gunpoint

Two armed robbers took about $400 in cash, coins and food stamps from an employee of J&M Produce Co., 329 Route 205, Cloverleaf Addition, 10:35 p.m. Wednesday.

The employee, John Moon of Collinsville, told Madison County sheriff's deputies that he had just closed the stand when two black men in their 30s with handguns entered over the bottom halves of their faces ordered him to come to the back of the stand.

Both had pistols aimed at him as they demanded the money from the store. After receiving the day's receipts, the men reached in Moon's rear pocket and took an envelope containing invoices and bills to be paid. They also took his keys to the produce stand.

When they were ordered to run north in the field behind the stand and complied. While he was running, one man yelled for Moon to run to the right and a shot was fired.

About 15 minutes later, Moon returned to the stand to find he had been locked out. He drove to a telephone and called deputies.

Artist Guild forms

The Granite City Artists Guild was formally established Tuesday evening when a group of 15 people met at the Granite City Township Building to organize.

Objectives of a guild were discussed and educational programs and future exhibition in the community were proposed.

Area artists and persons interested in furthering art in the community are being invited to join the new organization.

Sharon Bogosian, one of the organizers, said officers are to be elected, probably at the July meeting.

Additional information concerning the guild and location and date of the next meeting may be secured by calling 877-0225, Mrs. Bogosian said.

2 hurt in falls from vehicles

Two and one-half-year-old Frank Genovese of 2166a Washington Ave., fell from a slowly moving car and suffered abrasions to the right side of head and possible facial fractures at 8 p.m. Tuesday and was admitted to St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Kevin Carter, 16, of 2324 Dale Ave., fell from the bed of a moving pickup truck at 11 a.m. Wednesday, fracturing his right wrist. He was released after treatment at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Man, 78, robbed of hearing aid

A 78-year old man was robbed of his hearing aid and his wallet containing $3 when he fell asleep in his car in the park area on the riverfront at Venice, he told police at 1:50 p.m. Wednesday.

Robert Burns, 518 Main St., Venice, told officers several youths about 16 years of age reentered into the car and grabbed his wallet, tearing his hip pocket, snatched his hearing aid and fled. The hearing aid was valued at $150.

5-day holiday span slated at Area College

Belleveille Area College classes have been changed from July 3 to July 7. Classes will not meet on Monday, July 3, but will meet the Friday following the Tuesday, July 4, holiday.

In addition to giving teachers and staff members a five-day weekend (BAC operates on a 10-hour-per-day, 4-day workweek during the summer), the move will enable the college to keep the air-conditioning shut down for the extended period.

Vice-president for Administrative Services James Hines estimated that such energy-saving measures saved taxpayers approximately $10,000 in utilities at the college last year.

More than 3,000 students are enrolled at the school for the eight-week summer term.

A college spokesman said, "First indications are that a seven percent increase in credit hours has been experienced this summer over last."

Man charged in burglary attempt

Robert C. Rogers, 33, East St. Louis, was arrested behind Madison Aluminum Foundry, 1800 Benton St., at 2:35 p.m. Tuesday and has been charged with attempted burglary and possession of burglary tools.

Police responded to an alarm at the foundry and checked the building to find a man behind some large wooden crates at the rear. They handcuffed the man and then checked where he was seen, finding a screwdriver and a hammer.

A three-inch hole had been chiseled in the rear door by the doorknob, police discovered. Officers alleged finding a wood chip on Rogers' right shirt sleeve.

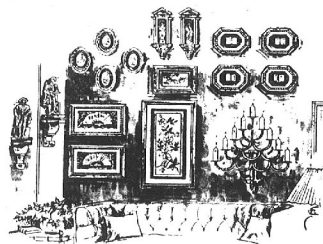

He was being held in the Granite City Jail today awaiting a court appearance to set bond.

Mrs. Marie Perry, Mrs. Irene Argelan and Mrs. Grace Hennrich were asked to plan the picnic menu and make other arrangements for the mid-summer event.

Bakalis asks for labor help

Michael J. Bakalis, Democratic nominee for governor, on Monday asked organized labor in Illinois to support his candidacy of Governor James R. Thompson because of Thompson's stand on issues "crucial to the welfare of working men and women."

According to Bakalis, he and the incumbent governor differ on ten issues affecting labor.

Bakalis said he supports public-sector collective bargaining, state minimum pay matching the federal minimum, continuation of present workmen's compensation rules, reform of unemployment insurance, and federal labor law reform.

The Democratic nominee also backs extended unemployment benefits, placement of the Governor's Office of Manpower under civil service, federal funding for public employee safety programs, use of American steel on all state construction projects, and opposition to right-to-work legislation.

Conceding that Thompson has been endorsed by many unions, Bakalis predicted that the rank-and-file membership won't adhere to those decisions.

Bakalis said the governor "has the Standard Oil president as his campaign chairman, is closely allied with the Rockefellers, and had as his fund-raising guest speaker a DuPont."

Ethnic festival requests must be made in writing

Any organization wishing to participate in the Madison Ethnic Festival must put its request for participation in writing and send the request to the Madison Fire Department, 1529 Third St., Madison, according to a committee spokesman.

The festival is scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 25, 26 and 27, around the Madison Memorial Center, Seventh and Lee streets, Madison.

It was noted at a committee meeting held last week that several groups have expressed a desire to participate in the event, but have not made their requests in writing, which is required.

"We have a lot of room and want to accommodate as many groups as possible," Sam Dymas, recreation director said.

"The committee must be notified in writing, what type of booth is planned so we know what the people want, and to help us avoid duplication. The committee is assigning booths on a first-come, first-serve basis, according to the letters they receive," Dymas added.

The Madison Amvets and Madison Fire Department are co-sponsoring the event this year.

Leadership role outlined for dentists

Three speakers admonished the 1978 graduates of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Dental Medicine, in weekend commencement exercises in the University Center, to accept roles of leadership in their communities.

Dr. Kenneth A. Shaw, president of the university, Dr. Vasil Vassileff, acting dean of the School of Dental Medicine, and Dr. R. Dale Smith, professor in the department of biomedical sciences, emphasized that the world has critical problems which the new dentists can help resolve.

Dr. Smith, who was selected by the graduates to be their commencement speaker, urged the class to "search out quality in your professional, personal and intellectual life."

Quoting Aristotle, Dr. Smith said, "There is only one way to do something right, but there are thousands of ways to do something wrong."

Dr. Vassileff, who will continue as acting dean until Dr. Henry Cherrick of the University of California School of Dentistry at Los Angeles becomes dean Sept. 1, said his year of service as acting dean has reinforced his realization that "academic excellence is nowhere better exemplified in the university than in the School of Dental Medicine."

Asserting that SIUE dental graduates rank among the best in the nation, Dr. Vassileff said, "You will be looked upon for leadership."

In a final admonishment, the acting dean urged the new dentists to maintain their creative abilities by continuing their education.

Both Dr. Smith and Dr. Shaw cautioned the graduates to remember there are several perspectives with which they can view the world.

Dr. Shaw said there are two extremes:

"Everything is perfect" — a perspective which ignores the serious problems in the world — and "Everything is in such disarray that there is nothing I can do about it."

The president continued, "You have made an excellent beginning. And because your demonstrated abilities, your fellow citizens will look to you for leadership. You are the recipients of the highest kind of promise this country has to offer."

Dr. Smith agreed that the new dentists have shown evidence that they have "well-developed" and "well-trained" minds.

"Now you must face the future on your own, and it's up to you to decide what facts you're going to use," he said. "You can have a happy and successful life if you know where you're viewing the situation from, keep your perspective, keep your health and keep your sense of humor."

Forty members of the class of 1978 were recognized in the ceremonies, including those who will not complete requirements for graduation until later this year.

A response from the graduates was given by Ronald R. Lynch, president of the class. "We're going to be on our own," he said, "and now we must earn the respect accorded to us as dentists."

A special tribute to Dr. Vassileff, "who has served with great distinction as acting dean," was voiced by President Shaw. He said, "We appreciate the great contributions he has made to the School of Dental Medicine and the university."

Tougher U.S. foreign policy? If so, it's about time, critics comment

Wall Street Journal — A year ago, President Carter delivered a widely noted commencement address at Nazareth College in which he described his "new American foreign policy."

The speech, it turned out, pretty much predicted the Carter foreign policy of the past year. And it explains why the President now faces serious foreign policy troubles.

Mr. Carter began by praising his fellow honorary degree recipients, dissident clerics from Rhodesia, Brazil and South Korea.

He went on to announce that America now could afford a foreign policy "based on constant decency in its values and on optimism in its historical vision."

He rejoiced that the "threat of conflict with the Soviet Union has become less intensive."

And, he assured us, "we are now free of that inordinate fear of communism" that once made us think we might have to put up with a certain amount of unsavoryness in our political allies.

America could now pursue peace and human rights openly, impartially and generously. By now it's been demonstrated that he meant exactly what he said, and has followed the blueprint a good deal more consistently than a first glance might suggest.

He appointed Paul Warnke SALT negotiator, made Andrew Young UN ambassador, and staffed the decision-making apparatus with members of the "So what?" school of foreign policy, which greets every announcement of a U.S. setback in the world with the verdict that only an alarmist would think it matters.

They smiled at the North Vietnamese in Paris, set about normalizing relations with Havana and began carrying out a human rights policy that seemed designed to hurt our allies more than our adversaries in order to prove that our motives weren't tainted by any hint of self-interest.

They brought the Soviets into the Mideast negotiations, turned their backs on the internal settlement in Rhodesia, and tried to scuttle the neutron bomb.

But even to those of us who've spent the year writing about the dangers of this approach, it's striking to see how quickly Mr. Carter began to reap the whirlwind both abroad and at home.

The world greeted our new friendliness about as one might have expected. The Soviets continued their arms build-up, hung tough on SALT, and took steady advantage of the opportunities that kept presenting themselves in Africa.

Our allies in the developing world got just a little bit annoyed at our sudden concern for the purity of their political processes. The Europeans began to ask aloud whether anyone was at home at the White House.

And events on their own began to provide even more chilling reminders of where various political systems actually stood in the world's moral pecking order.

The evil right-wing junta in Chile declared an amnesty for political prisoners, while the Soviet Union put dissident Yuri Orlov on public trial for anti-Soviet agitation and the progressive revolutionary leaders of Cambodia continued to beat, work and starve their citizens to death.

But there was a special clarity about the light these events threw on the "new American foreign policy."

For a long time, some critics have been claiming that the Soviets acted nasty to us only because we were so beligerently provocative towards them.

This time around, no one could accuse the U.S. of anything such thing. The administration presented the world with just about the gentlest American face ever — and the consequences have not been good.

Maybe this special clarity explains why the dramatic testis reaction against the Carter approach has grown so quickly and to such proportions in the last few days. At the very moment when the administration had won a notable victory in getting its Saudi plane sales through the Senate, observers of widely varying views suddenly sat up and noticed something: The Senate debate on the planes had largely been divided between those who wanted to fight the Soviets by supporting Israel down the line and those who wanted to fight the Soviets by arming Saudi Arabia.

Nearly all of them had grown alarmed by our slowness in meeting the Soviet threat; the debate was about means.

In the wake of the vote, Washington writers have begun wondering how the administration could have gotten us into the present foreign policy mess.

Columnist David Broder has already seen the dilemma that now faces the Carter administration. There's a growing perception on the foreign policy circuit and among the American public in general that the Soviets do not wish us well and that our response to them has so far been insufficient. The administration now has to decide whether it wants to turn around and lead the parade towards a tougher foreign policy or hold its ground and risk getting run over.

Some Carter people have now begun making cantankerous noises. The State Department has spoken very sharply about the seven-year sentence the Soviets have just handed Mr. Orlov, and Defense Secretary Harold Brown has reassured the NATO defense ministers that if war comes in Europe, we'll be there. The President has complained about the congressionally imposed restrictions on his aid to Africa, restrictions that were drafted in part by the man who now serves as Mr. Carter's assistant secretary of state for African affairs. The administration may now be deciding it wants to stop its year-long drift. But it will have to repeat a lot of its own history to do so.

Offer training in needed job skills

The Madison County Office of Manpower Development, a Comprehensive Employment Training Act program operator, is embarking on a new project aimed at providing area business and industry with an opportunity to train new employees under the federally funded Skill Training

Improvement Program (STIP). STIP is an outgrowth of government concern over future shortages of skilled labor in high-demand occupations. Integral to the program is industry participation in identifying high-demand skill areas and determining training programs that best suit individual business needs. Businesses eligible for STIP funding can receive reimbursement for the costs of employee training, training personnel, and facilities and equipment used in the training process. The scope of training is determined by the participating industry in relation to its labor needs. The classroom training element of the program can be provided through pre-existing industrial training programs, vocational schools, or facilities arranged specifically to implement STIP. An industry may elect to use the on-job training option either during or after the classroom training component.

Currently, the Office of Manpower Development is accepting training program proposals from any business interested in STIP — in preparation for a July 14 application-for-funding deadline.

Further information on the program is available through the Manpower office in Edwardsville (692-4310).

Fest stresses local jobs

The Mississippi River Festival continues to emphasize Madison-St. Clair counties jobs, the general manager reports. Peggy Wells said more than 200 persons have been employed to work at the festival, not including office, box office and concessions positions. She said this is substantially more than last year, and most of the jobs have been filled by SIUE students. More than 800 job applications were distributed on campus, but less than 200 responded by applying for interviews. She said a significant number of those applying have been hired by the MRF before the MRF general manager said a reserve list of employees will be maintained in addition to those hired. All business operations of the MRF have now been moved to offices at the site. In the first several weeks after the Nederlander contract was signed April 6, operations were located temporarily in the Supporting Services Building. Concerns have been voiced to her that the "complexity" of the MRF and working conditions will be different than in the past. "Our objective is to make the MRF the best ever," she said.

"We may not do things exactly as they have been done in the past, but the Nederlanders have proved in their other operations across the United States that they are dedicated business people with a big heart. They care about people and are sensitive to their needs and wishes."

Continuing, she said, "As far as we're concerned, every customer is a very important person (VIP). If it weren't for them, we wouldn't be business people."

As far as employee relations are concerned, I think of myself as a coach and the employees as the team. We can't play the game without the team, which means the concerns of our employees are secondary only to the needs of our customers."

A veteran of eight years with the Nederlander Organization, she moved here from the Morrisville Post Pavilion at Columbia, Md., one of three outdoor Nederlander operations with which she has been associated. She previously had been affiliated with the Pine Knob Music Theater at Detroit and The Greek Theater at Los Angeles and three of Nederlander's indoor facilities: The Mechanic Theater, Baltimore, Md.; The National Theater, Washington, D.C.; and The Fisher Theater, Detroit. Nederlander recently announced the appointment of William Zaiken, St. Louis, as a special consultant to the MRF.

The university's contract with Nederlander provides that the promoter will do a "turn-key" job, handling all arrangements for the 1978 season with no expenditure of university funds. Alcohol will be prohibited at the MRF site. Crowd sizes will be controlled in accordance with facility and traffic limitations. In its nine years of existence, the MRF has recorded more than 1.3 million attendance and has become nationally known, with appearances by most of the major artists in the entertainment business of the past decade.

TREE DISEASE, INSECT CONTROL SLAYED MONDAY
To help answer questions on tree diseases and insects, a tree disease and insect clinic will be held Monday, June 26, in the Madison County Farm Bureau auditorium, 900 Hillside Ave., Edwardsville, at 7:30 p.m. Homeowners are to bring samples of diseased tree leaves and tree insects to the meeting. Wayne Siefert, area adviser in ornamental horticulture with the University of Illinois, will be the speaker at the clinic. Emphasis will be on tree management to minimize disease and insect problems.

TAKE CB FROM TRUCK
Ron Barth, 3546 Belovitch Trailer Court, Route 162, Granite City, reported at 12:45 a.m. Tuesday that someone had shattered the glass in the door of his truck and taken a Midland 40 channel CB, valued at $100. The vehicle was parked at American Steel Foundries, Niederrhein Avenue at the railroad tracks, when the theft occurred.

Rev. Pierson to mark 25th anniversary of ordination

The 25th anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. Don F. Pierson will be observed Sunday at the 10:45 a.m. worship services at the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church, which he serves.

The local pastor was ordained by Westmoreland Presbytery in the First United Presbyterian Church of Murrysville, Pa.

After a six-year period of service in this suburb of Pittsburgh, the Piersons came to Illinois. Rev. Pierson holds the Master of Divinity from Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary, the second oldest seminary in the United States.

The Rev. Mr. Pierson, 41, native attended the University of Dubuque before completing college in 1950 at Whitworth College, Spokane, Wash. Mrs. Pierson, whose hometown is Chicago, is currently president of the Quad-Cities chapter of Church Women United.

The Piersons have three sons. The oldest, Eric, is the attorney for the People's Rights Organization of Wisconsin; the next, Neil, is a journalism and communications major in his senior year at MacMurray College of Jacksonville, Ill.; and the youngest, Andrew, will be a junior at Granite City North this fall.

The six-year pastorate in Pennsylvania was followed by a call to the Rome Prairie and Bethel Presbyterian Church near Salem, Ill. From there, Rev. Pierson was called to the Ridgeway and New Haven congregations of Southern Illinois. Rev. Pierson organized the Valley Cooperative Parish, a consortium of eight congregations.

They left this field to serve the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton, Iowa, where they remained for ten years before arriving in Granite City in 1973.

Each of the congregations enjoyed membership, growth, enlarged programs, community awareness, and substantial improvement in facilities under Pastor Pierson's leadership, church officials noted.

The Granite City pastor is a member of the Granite City Rotary Club, a member of the board of the Tri-Cities YMCA and a regular participant in the Community Prayer Breakfasts as well as the Quad-Cities Ministerial Alliance and the Quad-Cities Mental Health community awareness and outreach effort.

He led a Holy Lands Study group last fall and will again share the leadership of a Bible Lands Study Tour with his wife in a trip this October that will include Egypt, Jordan and Israel.

In addition to the special observance in the 10:45 a.m. service, a dinner will be held at 6 p.m. Sunday in the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church.

Summer vacation?? Not for the custodians

Summer vacation for students in the Quad-City area is just three weeks old but for one group of people who work at the schools year round the summer has just begun. They're the custodians. Above... Greg Adams, a grass cutter for Granite City School District 9, cuts the huge practice field adjacent to Memorial Stadium on the South High campus. Upper right... Milburn Wright dusts off the tops of water, heat and vacuum ducts in the wood shop of the vocational wing. At right... Boilerman Jerry Brokaw chips chemical deposits and rust from a water reservoir door seal which must withstand 125 pounds of pressure when the boilers are in use throughout the school year. The boilers on the South campus supply hot water as well as heat in the winter to the campus and cafeteria building in addition to the Coolidge Junior High building complex. Lower right... Ed Mehelic shampoos one of the many walkways and aisles in the South High auditorium. The 22-man custodial and boiler work crew seems to have a never-ending task of cleaning, moving and repairing all of the rooms and equipment used during the past school year but somehow they always get finished before the beginning of the fall term in August.

Mary Lincoln becomes Mrs. Rex W. Maynard

Miss Mary Ellen Lincoln, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark D. Lincoln, 413 Rose Ave., South Roxana, formerly of Granite City, and Rex William Maynard, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertis A. Maynard, 212 Stephenson, South Roxana, were united in marriage on June 10, at Bethel Free Will Baptist Church in South Roxana.

Bouquets of roses and carnations and burning tapers in tall candelabra provided the setting for the double ring ceremony performed at 7 p.m. by the Rev. James Walker.

Wedding music included "You Light Up My Life," "The Twelfth of Never," and "Take Our Lives."

For her wedding, the bride chose an organza gown fashioned with a high neckline, natural waist and bishop sleeves, accented with tulle lace and pearl trim.

Lace motifs were repeated on the front of the full skirt which was encircled with tulle ruffle that created a chapel train.

A camelot headpiece secured her fingertip veil of bridal illusion, edged with Chantilly lace. She held a Colonial bouquet of yellow roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kathy Sadler, a sister of the bride, and maid of honor was Miss Diana Barker, a cousin of the groom. Bridesmaids included Miss Joy Maynard, a sister of the groom, and Miss Suzanne Blevins.

They wore identical blue polyester crepe Empire style dresses featuring long sheer sleeves and capes embellished with tiny yellow rosebuds.

Each attendant carried a floral arrangement similar to the bridal bouquet.

A niece of the groom, Julie Pittell, was the flower girl and Michael McClintock served as the ringbearer. She wore a yellow crepe frock patterned after the bridesmaids and she carried a white basket of yellow daisies.

The groom chose Randy Shrum as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Ross Wells, John Martin, Richard Lincoln, a brother of the bride, Don Federie and Matt Martin.

Immediately following the service a reception was given at the Quasena in Roxana Park, and the rehearsal dinner was served in the church social room.

The newlyweds are residing in Nashville, Tenn., where both are attending Free Will Baptist Bible College. The bride is a graduate of Granite City High School.

Response is imperative to the competitive challenge being cited by A. O. Smith Corp. regarding auto frame plants

The A. O. Smith Corporation has had good reason to be thankful that its board ten years ago overruled a management committee recommendation to close the Granite City auto frame plant. The local facility remained open and achieved improved efficiency, even outperforming the larger Milwaukee frame plant in some respects during some periods.

But new problems have developed and the future again is darkening, particularly in regard to expansion prospects. Quad-Cityans would do well to take the warning signs seriously, as they appropriately did ten years ago, because the issue is a quite serious matter.

Several plant closings have occurred here since the post-World War II years. Whatever the factors that contributed to these decisions, such shutdowns are harmful blows to the economy of the affected community. Any further negative occurrences of this kind must be avoided.

With a $13 million yearly payroll at that time, the Smith plant was the subject of a four-and-a-half-hour meeting of the board of directors on March 25, 1968. The Smith Corporation president said prompt action by a special Quad-City citizens' committee was "most encouraging and helpful to the board in arriving at its decision" not to "discontinue operation of the plant at this time" (1968).

Problems cited then were "historically unsatisfactory economic results, accumulation of losses due to a strike at the plant," loss of business and the potential impact on the future orders volume.

This year, price competition has raised doubts about the plant's ability to operate profitably and avoid loss of business to rivals that may enjoy cost advantages. Canadian frame plants, for example, have a 12 percent advantage in the exchange rate on the dollar and also benefit from lower steel prices and labor rates.

In addition, many Illinois legislators don't seem to believe the contention by Smith and other firms that the business climate is deteriorating. It will be recalled that mid-1970s competition law changes disregarded the previous labor-management agreed-upon legislative proposals, and set Illinois apart from the other 49 states. Subsequent "remedial" laws have not been of a scope to end the corporations' concern.

Businesses say that benefits not only have been liberalized, but the ability to guard against compensation abuses has been impaired.

They feel there is a tendency toward the same sort of situation that Illinois Public Aid critics complain about — payments so generous and so hard to monitor that incentive to work is diminished. Workers who are in effect on the payroll but are not physically present often must be replaced by others at added cost, making it tougher to outdo competing companies.

A. O. Smith officials say that, rather than enjoying a competitive edge, they are faced with higher wages, workmen's compensation benefits, unemployment benefits, and the loss of the ability to make environmental considerations and other factors. With major contracts for product sales being lost, and with further deterioration of the competitive posture toward expansion here is being ruled out and reduced operations may occur.

Although production capacity at Milwaukee and Granite City has been strained to the limits in the past several years, with much overtime worked, new capacity may be provided, not at those sites, but by constructing a frame plant in Tennessee, a state called desirable because of the business climate, steel availability and proximity to car and truck assembly plants.

Union Starch and Refining, General Steel, Laclede Steel, National Enameling and Stamping... the list of former local production centers is longer than it is comfortable to recall.

There will be no winners or losers in this community or state if the list grows longer. Reasonable, effective, prompt, mutually-beneficial responses are imperative.

Mrs. Carter defends spirit, goodness of American people

In the tradition of Eleanor Roosevelt and other first ladies of the land, Mrs. Rosalynn Carter is speaking out, and many are applauding her latest comments.

She spoke out Tuesday on the 1978 Harvard University commencement remarks by Alexander Solzhenitsyn, a Soviet author who was allowed to leave and come to this country despite his book about Communist oppression in his native country.

Solzhenitsyn, who has become wealthy in a manner that would have been impossible in Russia, is a member of the American Moral Fiber, he feels we have "grown weak and cowardly and spiritually exhausted."

Addressing the National Press Club — the first talk there by a president's wife since Mrs. Roosevelt's appearance in 1938. Mrs. Carter said she is "not a Pollyanna about the mood of the country" but in her extensive travel has not seen the "pressure of evil" to which the author referred.

Finding a unique "spaciousness of mind and spirit" among citizens, Mrs. Carter concludes that there is "a truth" in Solzhenitsyn's assertions that "good men and women are doing nothing about American today."

Citizen interest and action, while never attaining a level of perfection, are alive and well here, as in the past 202 years. And this ought to be obvious to a survivor of the Stalin era and the later behind-the-Iron-Curtain regimes.

Suggests public vote on rights issue

To the Editor:
The defeat of HJRCA 27 (Equal Rights Amendment) in the Illinois House of Representatives, in view of the circumstances surrounding the defeat, was certainly not a credit to the state of Illinois.

There are two more resolutions before the Illinois House which will be brought to a vote, but the outlook does not seem to be favorable for their passage.

If either or both of these resolutions gets to the Senate, it would seem to be in for more difficulty there than in the House.

I still maintain, as I have in the beginning — and many are now joining me in this opinion — that it would be much better if the issue were placed on an advisory referendum for the fall election, with the results to be a mandate for those who will take office in January.

This would still be in time for the March 1979 ratification deadline.

I seriously doubt that the public in general is going to accept what the legislature decides by itself, regardless of which way it goes.

If it passes, there will undoubtedly be a move to repeal it. If it is defeated, there will be another move to reintroduce it.

This is a serious issue and one of importance to all the people of Illinois. It is of far greater importance than any advisory referendum, so why not this one?

The general public is certainly more informed on this issue than any other single issue in recent years.

I believe that both the pro-ERA and the anti-ERA sides would accept the results of an advisory referendum as a mandate for the legislature, and the issue would be decided once and for all.

I am convinced that if any other course is taken, the ERA issue will be a broken ball that under either individual, no major change in direction is expected; he sees continued progress but increased aluminum production by National.

Surveys indicate most prefer property tax limits but don't want to see major cutbacks in services to the elderly, school funding, police and fire protection, health care or road maintenance.

An attempt to cut faculty pay hikes in SIU 1978-79 appropriations failed Monday in the Illinois House.

The governor said Tuesday it opposes forming an "offensive" new state agency to provide legal aid to the indigent mentally ill and serve as guardian to the mentally disabled.

Michael McKinney, 23, of 1550 St. Clair Ave., was to be taken to surgery today at St. Elizabeth Hospital after a motorcycle accident on Lake Drive 400 east of Brockport Lane near Pontoon Beach at 12:15 a.m. Tuesday.

McKinney said he lost control in loose gravel and fell. Skid marks indicated the cycle went about 40 feet in the gravel before coming to a stop. He was issued a ticket for not having a motorcycle classification on his driver's license.

Lucco seeks help of true Democrats

To the Editor:

It concerns me that a few leaders in the Madison County Democratic organization are trying to discredit Representative Joe Lucco by saying that he is leaving the party.

Rep. Lucco is a true Democrat. He sought the organization's endorsement, received it, paid his endorsement assessment and, upon return, expected party leadership support.

Some chose to be undemocratic by not supporting Lucco, along with several others of their endorsed candidates.

Now, Mr. Lucco is turning to the true Democrats, the people, and giving them an opportunity to return him to the legislature in November.

In order to become the true Democratic representative, Mr. Lucco cannot file as Democrat, Republican or Independent. He must file on a separate new party.

Mr. Lucco's suggestion is to "Look for Lucco" on the ballot, vote for him and then go back to work for one's other favorites.

Lucco's support and voting records for labor, education, the elderly and the handicapped, the needy and the small business man stamp him as having the true Democratic philosophy.

Upon being re-elected, Mr. Lucco will again be selected with his fellow Democrats and continue to hold his seniority and committee assignments along with serving the "common people."

He will continue to be our Democratic spokesman in the House.

Petitions are now being circulated for Mr. Lucco. He needs help to get on the ballot. Any eligible, registered voter in District 56 may sign a petition. Anyone may circulate a petition as long as he or she did not circulate a petition in the primary.

Let's support our best Democratic representative, Joe Lucco.

Health insurance — U.S. a sharp buyer or an easy payer?

(American Association for the Advancement of Science)

The federal government needs to become a demanding, discriminating shopper when it fills the role of health insurer — the consumer seeks out the service or product, and Medicare pays for it.

This approach, adopted with Medicare, is not enough data on the federal discipline to tamper with the way the medical care system operated.

Over a dozen years later, however, with health-care costs exploding, the concept of government as a negotiating and bargaining agent "might be acceptable," Ball believes.

There already is evidence that government is taking a more intervening attitude in its role as provider of health services to the disabled and handicapped.

For example, professional standards review organizations (PSROs), adopted as part of the 1972 amendments to the Social Security Act, require the establishment of regional review committees (which are separate from a health-care institution).

The regional groups are responsible for setting and monitoring standards of care in hospitals and nursing homes, limitations to the length of hospital stays, procedures for defining areas of weaknesses within health-care institutions' patient-care functions, and a number of other aspects of local health care.

There is not enough data on the PSRO's has been collected to judge their benefits or disadvantages, some health professionals and policymakers are optimistic about their effects on the problems of today's health-care system.

In another article of the Science issue, Avedis Donabedian of the University of Michigan School of Public Health says, "In my opinion, if the PSRO's conscientiously implement their mandate, there should be an improvement in (health care) quality, in cost, or in both."

In addition to the PSRO concept, there are a number of ways in which the government is basing payment on value and performance, rather than simply on availability.

Ball lists a few: Medicare decided not to pay for use of the CAT (computer-assisted tomography) scanner until evidence of the machine is proved to be effective.

There is legislative authority to withhold reimbursement under Medicare to practitioners who abuse the program.

There now is a limitation on the reimbursement of hospitals whose costs are considered out of line with those of comparable size and type.

Ball's health-insurance plan could, among other benefits, limit payment of specialists' fees to those who are Board-certified and only after referral by a primary-care physician.

Such a regulation might result in fewer specialist health-care professionals and fewer high specialists' fees.

The plan could decide to pay for certain surgical procedures only after a second opinion is received from another specialist.

It could pay for expensive, high-technology services only when they are performed in hospitals which do them frequently enough so that they are presumed to be performed well, might pay extra for family-practice services that provide nurse practitioners.

In addition, the plan would go beyond identifying the goods and services for which it was willing pay.

It would be the government's responsibility under the plan to make sure those goods and services were accessible to the people who needed them, to insure equitable geographic distribution of health-care professionals; and to promote and reward preventive health habits among communities and individuals.

"Would it be feasible, for example," asked Ball, "to charge a lower premium to those who avoided cigarettes and alcohol?"

For that, though, the critical element remains the adoption of the health-buyer role for the federal government.

He concludes, "It seems to me that the plan will contribute most toward the improvement of health quality care, the promotion of health, and the encouragement of efficient and responsive delivery of care — if we give the plan the responsibility to purchase care on behalf of the covered population."

It is not the plan's role to pay the bills for the care which people have been able to obtain on their own."

News notes

The governor's office said it has received only 71 letters objecting to legalized off-track betting offices.

The Illinois Senate on Wednesday voted to limit property tax rebates to families with $25,000 yearly income, instead of $30,000 as earlier proposed.

Edwardsville Township Assessor Blair Watson is considering assessing the Mississippi River Festival site at SIUE for tax purposes. He said that a private firm is arranging this summer's concert series.

The supply of tax form on which bills are printed is being blamed for a delay in sending out this year's property tax bills in Madison County. Rates were figured in late April. County data processing supervisor Bill Helms says bills will be prepared within six days, once the forms arrive.

Gov. James R. Thompson will consult with medical experts before acting on legislation legalizing marijuana use by glaucoma and cancer victims.

Illinois' new generic drug law, allowing substitution for certain prescribed medicines, will go into effect July 1.

Attorney General Griffin Bell approved Wednesday merger of Lykes Corp. and LTV Corp. to avoid bankruptcy for Lykes.

The governor will meet with the four largest steelmakers behind U.S. Bethlehem and National Steel. LTV owns Jones & Laughlin, now seventh biggest, and Lykes owns Youngstown, eighth largest.

Yesterday, June 21, was the year's longest day — 14 hours and 53 minutes of daylight from 5:36 a.m. to 8:29 p.m. — was the first day of summer.

National Steel Chairman George W. Simpson, 63, said Tuesday he may retire at 65, allowing President Howard M. Love to become chairman.

The governor has not yet decided whether to seek an exception to the retirement age rule. "I have no set plans" to retire, he added.

Under either individual, no major change in direction is expected; he sees continued progress but increased aluminum production by National.

Candidate critical of state legislation

To the Editor:
I strongly urge the people of the 56th District to contact Senator Sam Vadalabene and let him know that they are opposed to his sponsorship of House Bills 2800 and 2801.

House Bill 2800 is a revival of the so-called "double dipping" bill which allows that office holding for the positions of township supervisor and County Board district member.

Legislation similar to this was introduced in the House last year by Representative Joe Lucco and was later withdrawn when he learned of the overwhelming opposition by the people to this type of legislation.

This is a clear example of the type of legislation Sen. Vadalabene is and the type of legislation he is noted for. It is a bill that benefits a few at the expense of many.

It is clearly a special interest bill that will benefit Nelson Hauer, chairman of the Madison County Board and township supervisor in Granite City, and perform a great disservice to the voters of the 56th District.

Hennrich triples home three; Tri-City routs Edwardsville 7-1

By PETE HAYES

Press-Record Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — Tri-City Post 113's American Legion baseball team finally got TWO aspects of the game together here last night ... hitting and pitching. And coach Babe Champion couldn't be happier. "Hey, we're finally hitting the ball somewhere besides right at somebody," he said after 113 had defeated Edwardsville 7-1. "Clutch hitting ... that's what we got tonight."

What Post 113 also got was pitching, two-hit pitching from Doug Rains. "I'm pleased with Doug's performance," said Champion. "He's got a sneaky fast ball, but also has a real good curve. But the main thing is that he's a competitor."

TRI-CITY out-hit Edwardsville 7-2, with the big blow coming in the sixth inning off the bat of shortstop Tom Hennrich.

Hennrich laced a bases-loaded, one-out triple through gap in left-centerfield to drive home Doug Rains, Dan Schaus and Randy Smith, who had reached base by virtue of a hit batsman (Rains) and two walks. Earlier in the inning, Blake Ambuehl singled and came home when Smith walked. "It was the guys down toward the bottom of the lineup who picked us up tonight," said Champion. "That's what we look for."

AMBUEHL, Rains, Schaus and Smith are the final four in the Post 113 batting order. Edwardsville's centerfielder, Bob Buehler got the scoring started when he smacked an inside-the-park home run leading off in the third inning. But Rains didn't allow another hit until second baseman Tim Gamble's single in the sixth.

Tri-City came back with a solo run in the third when Schaus, Smith and Hennrich singled to load the bases and Keith Champion received a walk, driving home Schaus. The bottom of the order came through for Tri-City again in the fourth inning. Rains singled leading, went to second when Schaus reached base on an error by Gamble and scored on a two-out double by Smith. "THAT'S WHAT we like to

The depth of Tri-City is also impressing Champion. "There are five or six guys on the bench who can play for us just about as easily as the guys we have out there now," he said. "That's something I was a little concerned about early in the season," said Champion. "But now that we know who can play where, and what ability these guys have, it's a lot easier on me as coach."

"We beat somebody in our own division," added Champion. "I guess that's the most important thing about the game tonight. When you do that, it's almost a two-game thing, the way it changes the divisional standings."

"Another thing different about last night's game was that Tri-City wasn't clinging to a one-run lead going into the final inning. How's it feel to win by more than one run, coach?"

"IT'S AMAZING how relaxed it makes the guys feel on the bench in the last inning," said Champion. "It's nice to relax for a change toward the end of the game."

The next action for Tri-City will be tonight when it faces Maryland Heights, Mo. at South Field in a one-league game.

Tri-City returns to District 22 action tomorrow (Friday) night when it travels to Belleville for an 8 p.m. game. Saturday, Washington, Ill. travels to Granite City for a 1 p.m. doubleheader.

Glen Carbon gives away run; ties with Collinsville

By JIM HEIDENRICH

for the Press-Record
COLLINSVILLE — Collinsville's Post 365 Legion baseball team received a desperately-needed gift in the seventh inning Tuesday night when it battled Glen Carbon Post 435.

Glen Carbon was leading Collinsville 2-1 in the final inning. Post 365 had two outs and no one on base. Mike Fernandez was Collinsville's last hope. But he struck out. The game should have been over.

Post 435's catcher, Mike Simpson, trapped the third strike and only needed to throw to first base to get Fernandez. But Simpson who had enough time to throw to first, fired the ball into the ground. It ricocheted off the first baseman's leg and Collinsville was still alive with a runner at first.

Fernandez stole second base on the first pitch to Scott Kelly. Then Kelly slammed a single to left field driving home the tying run. The umpire stopped play after the seventh inning because of darkness.

The game stands at a 2-2 suspended contest and will be completed the next time the two teams meet.

"A break finally came our way," said Collinsville coach Fred McClary. "We had some calls that went against us early in the game. Things haven't gone too much or way all year."

KELLY was Collinsville's top offensive player. He was the home team's only batter to manage two hits. Besides the clutch seventh inning ace, he opened the sixth inning with a single and later score Collinsville's first run.

"We've been trying to find a good fourth hitter all year, and maybe we've found one in Kelly," said McClary. "He hit the ball hard, over-time he batted."

Glen Carbon, 1-6 in league play and 1-7 overall, score its two runs in the first inning. Jeff Stamper sandwiched a single between doubles by Bob Baty and Terry Page. The three hits were good for both runs.

After the first inning, however, Collinsville's Greg Peter turned in a fine pitching performance.

Peter allowed only two hits after the first frame and struck out 11 Glen Carbon batters.

"He (Peter) struggled, the first couple of innings," said McClary. "But about midway

Poovey gains second straight victory; holds off McClure in Tri-City feature

GRANITE CITY — Terry Poovey, Garland, Texas, made his move to the fourth spot by the end of the race. The next motorcycle event at Tri-City Speedway Tuesday night, Poovey claimed the win, but the racing was close throughout the event. Poovey and Guy McClure faced off for the first five laps when Poovey began to build up a margin of about two bike lengths which he held for the remainder of the feature event. McClure then had his hands full holding on to second place against the smooth riding Doug Ahn. Ahn had to convince Charles Robert that he wanted that third place position. Robert got a bad start and finished the first lap in eighth place when he began to make his move to the fourth spot by the end of the race. The next motorcycle event at Tri-City Speedway will be Tuesday night June 27.

Will the South rise again?

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor

BLOOMINGTON — When the Class A (small school) South all-stars take to the court here next Friday night against their north counterparts, they'll be trying to continue their dominance of the mid-summer basketball classic.

The south stars have not lost once to the north team in the three previous all-star games. They are the only group which still has not lost a game in the series.

This year's edition of the South Class A all-stars will be coached by Mounds-Meridian Head Coach Jim Byassee. He looks upon the entire affair as an honor and a good chance to showcase the players' wares. "Of course, I'll try to win," said Byassee. "But the main thing in an all-star game like this is to get everybody in the game so as to give college recruiters a chance to see everybody."

BYASSEE is a highly successful coach, who during a span from 1967 to 1973 coached nine straight teams with over 20 wins each, with the most wins coming during the 1971-72 season when he coached Meridian to a 30-2 record and a championship game matchup with Lawrenceville in the very first Class A state finals game. The most losses during that span was seven, twice, in 1970-71 and again in 1972-73. The total won-lost record for the period was 225-39.

Byassee said the problem of selecting a starting five from his group of all-stars will be hard and won't be made until after he's had a chance to see them work together in practice next week preceding the north-south game.

The two Class A squads will face the two AA squads in scrimmage games next week during practices. Thursday, the Class A North will face the Class AA South and the Class AA North will play the Class AA North. Friday, the Class A South will play the Class AA South and the Class A North will face the Class AA North. The games will start at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday and 7:15 p.m. Friday. The scrimmages will consist of two 12-minute periods each.

Byassee's decision is not made any easier by the wealth of talent on his squad. Leading the way in the list of talent is Eldorado's Eddie Lane, an all-state and all-America selection.

"He's got more moves under the basket than a bucket of worms," said Byassee. "But he's also one of the best pure shooters I've seen. Because of that, I may have to use him more outside than he's been used to."

ONE REASON for Byassee's willingness to so quickly put Lane outside is 6-6, 300 pound Otha Watkins from Cairo Senior. "He's got some fine moves, especially for his size, which has got to be his greatest attribute," said Byassee. "He can hit from short-range, but can really burn you with his rebounding strength."

Byassee should know what he's talking about. His Meridian team, led by Watkins and his Cairo teammates four straight times during the past campaign.

MADISON'S Anthony King has been selected to represent this area on the Class A South squad. The 5-10 guard was an all-area and honorable mention all-state selection. He also played for the Madison County all-stars in the St. Clair-Madison County All-Star game and played for the Illinois Squad in the East-West Metro game in St. Louis last month.

"I haven't had a chance to see King play myself," said Byassee. "But I've heard enough about him from fellow coaches who played Madison last season to know that he has a better-than-average chance to nail down a starting position."

Tom Granloh, a 6-7 center-forward from Effingham-St. Anthony, got Byassee's attention when he saw him play in the Assembly Hall in Champaign during the IHSAA Class A State Finals.

"He was very impressive," said Byassee. "There were quite a few players from the Class A South up at Champaign. But I was also impressed with the players who'll be on the Class A North team."

THAT TEAM will be coached by Will Slager of Chicago Christian. "They'll have an awful lot of talent on their team," said Byassee. "We should be in for a tough game."

They'll have Kent Schneider from Mason City, who's a real fine prospect in addition to Jeff Clements from Mt. Pulaski and Allen Rayhorn from Dakota. Those three will definitely give us problems."

About his squad's scrimmage next week with the Class AA South team, Byassee said: "With Cabutti Lee from Champaign Central as their coach, they'll probably be patient on offense. But since this is an all-star game, he may let them play a little more than he usually allows his teams to. He may have to with the talent he's got."

Cabutti's squad will feature the likes of Collinsville's "big three," All-American Kevin Stallings, Steve Ray and John Belokazy, as well as Bryan Leonard from Belleville East, Willie Rogers from East St. Louis and All-American Chuck Verbeke from Lincoln.

"THE THING one has to worry about when he's coaching opposite Cabutti's is how much THEY score, but how much his own team scores. Cabutti really stresses defense."

The rest of Byassee's Class A South team will consist of Dave Collins, a 5-10 guard from Casey; Hawley Farris, 6-3 from Fawcett; Mike Owens, 6-3 from Metropolis; Ray Mack, 6-3 from Lebanon; Doug Reams, 6-0 from Vandalia; Steve Stone, 6-2 from Carmi; Don Lachmeyer, 6-9 from Robinson; and David Williams, 6-4 from his own Meridian team. Alternates are Robin Packett, 6-1 from Fawn; Paul Patton, 6-2 from Nashville; and Dan Fitchers, 6-4 from Virden.

NEXT: A look at the Class AA North.

What ever happened to Terry Ripka?

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — The year, 1971. The place, Granite City High School Gymnasium. The event, a basketball game between Granite City High and Madison.

RIPKA
That's all the headlines said the next day. Ripka, Terry Ripka that night became the first GCHS player to score 50 points in a single game. He had earned himself yet another place in the record books of Granite City High School.

BUT the story of Terry Ripka goes much deeper than that 50-point game against Madison in 1971. Much deeper.

Ripka is 6-3 and when he was in high school, was the most talked-about player in the area. His pure shooting style and the hustling efforts of his teammates at GCHS while he was a junior helped take the Warriors to a "Sweet Sixteen" berth in the last one-class state championship series.

Granite City fell in that first round game to an Ohio Tuckered Farris team. The next season, GCHS was touted around the state as having perhaps one of the best shots at coming out of the southern part of the state in the quest for the state championship.

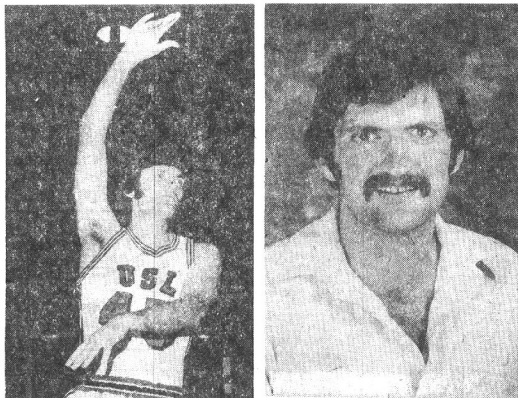

But things didn't work out that way, Granite City falling to Collinsville in the championship game of the regional. Terry Ripka had been injured and not at full-strength in that game.

RIPKA just completed his first season as head basketball and track coach at E. Broussard High School in Cow Island, Louisiana. His team finished the year with a somewhat disappointing 4-20 record.

He's getting married this August to a girl from nearby Lafayette, La. But between his graduation from high school and the current events, a lot has happened to Ripka.

Upon graduation from GCHS, Ripka entered the University of Tennessee on a full-ride athletic scholarship to play basketball. He stayed there two years. From there, he entered the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

HAVING to sit out a year

THEN AND NOW — Ripka at the University of Southwest Louisiana (left) and now as the head basketball coach at E. Broussard High School.

because he had transferred from another school. Ripka graduated in 1977 with a Bachelor of Science degree in education.

The reason he left Tennessee was playing time. He wasn't getting enough of it to suit him. "I had a pretty good freshman year," said Ripka. "But I didn't do much playing my sophomore year."

"Jim Hatfield (now the coach at Mississippi State University) had just been named as the new coach at USL and was wanting to beef up his program in a hurry, so he brought in myself and several junior college transfers. He had known of my situation at UT and asked if I'd like to go to USL."

Is Ripka pleased with his decision to go to USL? "As far as getting to play, no," he said. "My first year there, I got to play quite a bit, but we didn't have a real good year, so coach Hatfield decided to go with a youth movement, brought in a lot of freshmen and said he was going to build the program from the ground up.

"BUT I've got absolutely no hard feelings at all from either of the colleges I went to," said Ripka. "I feel I went to the best college possible in UT and I have nothing but fond memories of my days at USL."

How about his situation now in Louisiana? Even though he teaches in Cow Island, he lives in nearby Abbeville (pop. 9,383). "It's different from Granite City," said Ripka. "That's for sure. But I like it down here."

"I miss some of my friends back home," he said. "But not a whole lot of them are still around Granite, so it wouldn't make any difference whether I was living there or not as far as that's concerned."

Of his "glory days" at GCHS, Ripka said he has nothing but fond memories. "I guess your high school days are supposed to be some of the best of your life," he said. "That's pretty much the way it was for me."

RIPKA was named to several all-state teams both his junior year and senior year in high school (AP, UPI and Chicago Daily News, to name a few). He received headlines not reserved only for the likes of Collinsville's Kevin Stallings, and the rest of that Kahok gang. Granite City was a legitimate basketball powerhouse.

DID all that publicity affect Ripka? "Not a bit," said his high school coach, Don Deterding. "Terry was basically a quiet kid, not used to living in all the limelight. He wasn't one of these kids who thought they knew it all just because he got his name in the paper a few times. He was very coachable."

"Terry was perhaps the best pure-shooter I've ever coached," said Deterding. "He was super at shooting over screens and was almost a sure thing from deep in the corner. One time after practice," said Deterding, "one of my assistant coaches came in and said, 'do you think Ripka gets bored? He never misses.'"

"He had just finished making 39 out of 40 shots that practice."

STANDING at 6-5, one would think Ripka would pull down his share of rebounds. But according to him, that wasn't his strength. "I was never known as much of a 'board man,'" he laughed. "Coach Deterding wanted to use me more as a shooter, but I wasn't much for getting underneath and fighting for the rebound too much."

What about that memorable night when Ripka scored those 50 points against Madison? "Gary Simpson (another GCHS basketball great) held the previous scoring record for us with 47 points in 1969," said Deterding. "In Terry's junior year, he actually had two good shots at breaking it."

"Early in the season against Wood River, he scored 47 points, tying the record," said Deterding. "But there was a very unusual circumstance in that one. One of the refs stopped the game with about three minutes left because we were so far ahead that Wood River was openly hitting and slashing at our guys to get the ball."

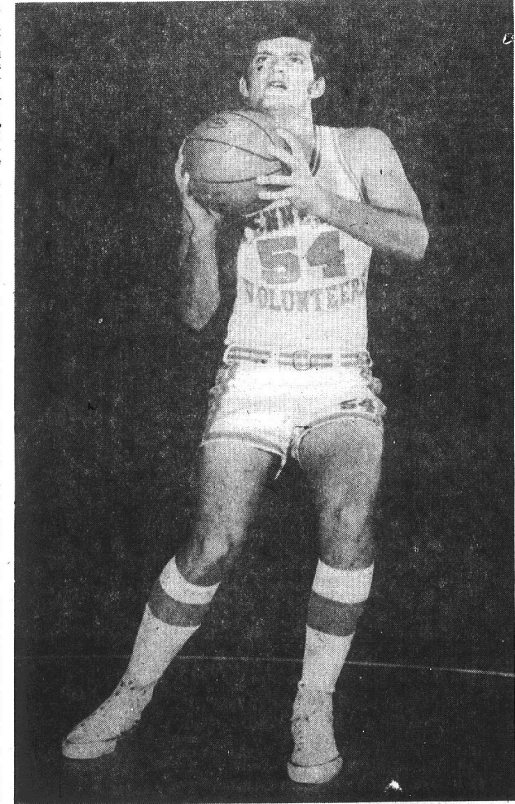

"The ref just took the ball and walked off the court and didn't come back. Terry could have broken the record that night for sure."

But Ripka got his chance later in that same season. "They (Madison) had him triple-teamed," said Deterding. "But he still scored. He scored from outside and he even scored inside on them."

"MADISON was short that year, so Terry had a field day underneath the basket."

But Ripka's biggest thrill of his high school career was not the 50-point outburst against Madison, but winning the Pontiac Tournament his junior year (70-71). "That has to be the biggest thrill I had," he said. "That was really the first time we got state-wide recognition as a team. We beat some highly-respected St. Louis and northern Illinois schools to win it."

Ripka is living in an area not well-known for basketball. "Basketball is just something they do here between football and baseball," he said. "It's

Family captures honors Applications still being accepted

Three members of the Neuner family captured honors with first place victories in the Trailriders Saddle Club "Point Show," held during the weekend at the club arena on Chouteau Slough Road at Rock Road and the Chain of Rocks Canal levee. Kathy Neuner riding Tuff Grande was a double winner, taking first place in junior barrel race pleasure and junior western pleasure events. Kathy's father, Russ Neuner, riding Mesa Shade, won the senior plow race and her brother, Dean Neuner, also mounted on Mesa Shade, was the top winner in the junior plow race.

Two other double event winners were among the contestants. Melanie Chitwood on Kojak scored top points in the junior poles and junior barrel races and Robert Williams on Flicka was first in pony pleasure and pony barrels.

In the haltering classes, Sonny Dalton showing Sugar N Peaches scored first in the junior poles and junior barrel races and Robert Williams on Flicka was first in pony pleasure and pony barrels.

The public is invited to view the events. Admission is free.

The public is invited to view the events. Admission is free.

Applications are still being accepted for the Third Midwest Soccer Camp, to be held next week, June 26-30 at the Granite City Army Depot Field.

The sessions are open to both boys and girls and those wishing to register may do so Monday at 10 a.m. when the first session will begin. Sessions will be held daily from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Fee is $40 and may be paid at the registration. The camp will be conducted by Gene Baker, coach at Granite City South and Tony Tocco, the coach of Rockhurst College in Kansas City, Mo.

In addition, several area high school coaches will participate, as well as a former professional soccer player, Rick Smith, who played for the Dallas Tornado.

On-campus summer jobs

Between 40 and 45 area high school seniors will be employed on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this summer through a project entitled "Summer Job Program 1978."

George Mitchom, instructor for the Experiment in Higher Education program, is director of the project. Duration of the work is nine weeks. The students will be employed in various areas on campus, including the enrollment office, library, health service, admission and records, and other offices.

"The program gives the students job exposure. It will also enable them to have a positive job outlook on life," Mitchom said.

"We want to encourage students to keep going to school. With on-campus jobs, they have a chance to see what college life is like," he added.

"Our students come from the Science Awareness Program and Upward Bound. We do our best to make sure they have a rich first-job experience." Students participating in the program attend classes in the morning and work in the afternoon.

Madison school board meets on salaries

A special meeting of the Madison Board of Education Tuesday night was devoted entirely to a closed "executive session" in which board members discussed adjustment of administrators' salaries.

No school administrators were allowed to attend the session. Sam Dymas, board president, said board members also discussed final phases of new contract negotiations with representatives of teachers and school custodians, clearing up several questions in contract language.

"We had an excellent board meeting and I think we will be able to announce details of our new union contracts in the next board meeting," Dymas said. The School Board will meet in regular session July 20, unless a special session is called before that time.

STEAL FOOD STAMPS

A $94 book of food stamps was stolen from the apartment of Doris Colwell, 1714a Cleveland Blvd., between 12:30 and 3:30 p.m. Tuesday. There were no signs of forced entry.

BICYCLE REGISTRATION program for Saturday in discussed by Granite City Police "Officer Friendly" Fred Hoffman, center, with the representatives of firms donating to children who participate in the free program. Youngsters bringing their bicycles to McDonald's Restaurant between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday to have a parent's driver's license number engraved on the bikes will receive free a hamburger and French fries from McDonald's, a ticket for a free movie, popcorn and candy bar at Nameoki Cinema, and a ticket to swim at the Wilson Park Swimming Pool that day.

2-year prison term

Zachary Noonan, 19, St. Louis, has been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville to serve two years in prison after pleading guilty to aggravated battery in connection with a gang rape of two young St. Louis women on Chouteau Island Aug. 6, 1976.

Noonan originally was charged with two counts of rape, two of deviate sexual assault and one count of robbery, but those charges were dismissed when he pleaded guilty to the aggravated battery charge.

Sentence was pronounced by

Circuit Judge A. A. Matocesan. The victims, who were each 18 years old at the time, alleged four men forced their way into the women's car in St. Louis and drove them to Chouteau Island, followed by five men in another car. The nine men then raped them repeatedly for five and one-half hours before setting them free, it was alleged.

Noonan was the sixth St. Louis man sentenced to prison in the case. One man still is being sought and two received immunity from prosecution in return for their testimony.

Richard Kientzy, 22, and Nicholas Hammond, 24, are serving four to six-year prison terms and Donald Jenkins, 23, Mark Mueller, 22, and Richard Knowles, 24, are serving two to eight year sentences.

Courthouse restoration

The National Park Service plans to negotiate a cost-plus-fixed-fee construction contract for Phase I restoration of the Old Courthouse at 11 N. 4th St., St. Louis, according to Memorial Superintendent Robert Chandler.

"The project is budgeted at $300,000," he said, "and includes paint removal and cleaning; repair, partial replacement and repointing of stone masonry; repair, patching and sealing of copper roofs, gutters and walls, and of cast-iron columns and windows; replacement and repair of wood windows; repainting, including the flagpole; special scaffolding and conveying."

Phase I restoration of the four-winged, monumental masonry building involves only a portion of the 287,235-foot structure.

"The portion involved consists of two superimposed 63-foot-diameter stone domes above the wing roofs, supporting a large copper dome lantern, extending 135 feet above wing roofs to 190 feet above sidewalk," Chandler said.

Construction firms meeting the following qualifications are being invited to respond: (1) successful experience in quality construction work of a similar nature; (2) successful experience in custom construction requiring innovation and deviation from standard techniques; and (3) a firm whose organization will be compatible with subordination of day-to-day direction and supervision of work to the National Park Service project supervisor.

Interested firms may obtain requests for proposal documents after June 26 from the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial National Historic Site at 11 N. 4th. Bids are due July 10.

Free dinner for Chouteau sr. citizens

Chouteau Township mature adults and senior citizens will be treated to a free chicken and dumplings dinner, music by kitchen bands and other entertainment during an event from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the new Chouteau Township Community Center and Town Hall building.

Township residents over 55 years-of-age will be served chicken and dumplings, vegetables, salad, dessert and beverages by township officials and members of the township's citizens advisory committee.

It is hoped the event will aid in bringing mature adults and senior citizens together to form a senior citizens group which will utilize the new township community center on a regular basis.

The new township hall is located adjacent to the highway garage, on the north access road to Interstate 270, just east of Route 203 north (Old Alton Road). It is behind the Midwest Motel.

Essington honored

Richard G. Essington, agency associate in Madison for the Franklin Life Insurance Co., Springfield, Ill., has been named to membership in the Franklin's $100,000 Plus Club. Essington's qualification for the national honor was based on personal sales for the month which provided his clients with more than $100,000 in life insurance protection. Presentation of the $100,000 Plus Club award will be made by Franklin President William J. Alley.

Bike registration scheduled Saturday

As part of a community crime prevention effort, a bicycle registration will take place at McDonald's Restaurant between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday.

"Officer Friendly" Fred Hoffman of the Granite City Police Department is requesting that all participants bring a parent's driver's license number with their bicycle. That number then will be engraved into the frame of the bicycle in an effort to discourage theft.

Assisting in the bicycle registration will be members of the Granite City Police-

sponsored Explorer Post 1033 and members of the Granite City Breakfast Kiwanis Club. Engraving pens used at the registration have been donated by the Granite City Jaycees.

All students participating in the event will receive a coupon from McDonald's good for a hamburger and French fries, a free ticket to swim that day at the Wilson Park Pool and a ticket to the film "Journey to the Center of the Earth" showing at 1 p.m. Tuesday, June 27, at the Nameoki Cinema, with a free box of popcorn and candy bar.

Resurfacing of Rt. 3 under way

Resurfacing of Illinois Route 3 from Broadway in Venice to East St. Louis is progressing on schedule, according to Joe Rowe, assistant engineer of District 8 of the Illinois Department of Transportation. "We're about 40 percent completed with the necessary patching of the particularly bad areas of existing highway," Rowe said.

The 2.9 mile resurfacing project when completed will cost an approximate $475,000. The district offices project a completion date for the resurfacing at mid-September this year.

Advance state registration of merger offers

Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) announced Tuesday that House Bill 1380, known as the Illinois Business Take Over Act, had passed the Senate, 50-4. The bill was approved earlier by the House, 134-1.

Vadalabene, the Senate sponsor, said the bill empowers the secretary of state to administer the Business Take Over Act, enacted last year by the General Assembly.

The new law and its amendment are intended to regulate attempts to take over business firms which are organized under the laws of Illinois. "Now, business firms will be required to register take-over offers with the secretary of state," Vadalabene said.

"In recent years, companies which have had a close connection with Illinois have been subject to take-over offers in which control was transferred suddenly, without giving Illinois stockholders adequate time to consider the transfer."

"Also, management of the firm being taken over was not given adequate time to evaluate alternatives, so that it could recommend an appropriate course of action to the stockholders."

Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon, who initiated the bill, said, "It does not unduly impede take-over offers and the natural conducting of business in Illinois. But it does protect the interests of Illinois stockholders."

100 million worker total is surpassed

Employment continued to rise in May and unemployment edged up slightly, as the nation's labor force surpassed the 100 million mark, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported this week. The unemployment rate was 6.1 percent, up from 5.9 percent in April, but still a little movement since February, following more than a year of fairly steady declines. Total employment was as measured by the monthly survey of households — was 94.1 million in May, up 310,000 over the month. Over the past year, total employment has grown by 3.6 million.

Nonfarm payroll employment — as measured by the monthly survey of establishments — advanced by 175,000 to 85.3 million. Payroll jobs have grown by 3.5 million since May 1977.

The number of persons unemployed in May was up slightly from the previous month, returning to the 6.1 million level that had prevailed in February and March. The unemployment rate, at 6.1 percent in May, has been in the 6.0-6.2 percent range for four months, after falling gradually throughout most of 1977 and into 1978. The rate had been 7.8 percent at the end of 1976.

The unemployment rate for adult males (4.2 percent) was unchanged from April to May, as a sharp drop in joblessness among 20-24-year-olds was countered by an increase among 25-54 years.

The rate among women in this central age group also increased over the month, as did the rate among married women. The jobless rate for all adult women reached 6.3 percent in May, up from 5.8 percent in April. The unemployment rate for teenagers has been inching down in the past few months and stood at 16.5 percent in May.

Unemployment rates for both black and white workers, at 12.3 and 5.2 percent, respectively, were about unchanged over the month.

Jobless rates among white-collar and service workers held fairly steady in May at levels that have generally prevailed since the beginning of the year. The unemployment rate for blue-collar workers, which has improved slightly in 1978, was unchanged in May, as a decrease among nonfarm laborers was offset by an increase among operatives.

The employment-population ratio — the proportion of total noninstitutional population 15 years and over that is employed — sustained its recent rise, reaching an all-time high of 58.6 percent in May.

The civilian labor force passed the 100 million milestone in May as a result of an increase in the month's surge of nearly half a million workers. Increases were pervasive among major demographic groups, with large gains posted by both black and white workers.

The overall labor force participation rate also reached a record high, 63.2 percent. The percentage of the civilian labor force working age population participating in the labor force has been rising rapidly in recent years, paced by the strong growth of adult women and teenagers.

In the goods-producing sector, manufacturing employment edged up by 25,000 over the month. Machinery was the largest gainer among the manufacturing industries, while the only notable decline was in food processing. Employment in contract construction rose by 20,000; this followed two straight months of unusually sharp expansion in the industry.

Over the year, employment in contract construction has risen by nearly 400,000 to a new high of 4.2 million. In service-producing industries, job gains occurred over the month in trade (55,000), services (35,000) and finance, insurance and real estate (25,000).

The average workweek for production or nonsupervisory workers on private nonagricultural payrolls decreased 0.3 hour in May to 36.0 hours. This was also 0.3 hour below the year-earlier level.

Almost all of the major industry groups posted declines over the month. The manufacturing workweek was down 0.4 hour but factory overtime, at 3.5 hours, was but slightly over the year-earlier level.

During the three months of strong gains, the workweek in contract construction receded 0.9 hour in May.

Because of the decline in hours, coupled with only modest employment growth, the index of average weekly hours of production worker payrolls fell by 0.5 percent in May to 119.8 (1967 equals 100). The index was 2.4 percent above the year-ago level.

Before adjustment for seasonality, average hourly earnings were $5.63, up two cents from April and 44 cents from a year earlier. Average weekly earnings fell by 41 cents over the month to $201.55 but have risen $14.19 since last May.

The hourly earnings index — earnings adjusted for overtime — was 212.6 (1967 equals 100) in May, 0.3 percent higher than in April. The index was 8.2 percent above May a year ago.

During the 12-month period ended in April, the hourly earnings index for the nation's workers rose 4.1 percent. The index for constant purchasing power rose 1.7 percent.

The AGC Crime Prevention Committee bases the figure on a survey — the first of its kind in the construction industry — of 40 AGC chapters representing 3,475 contractor members.

Committee Chairman Clinton Hardesty said: "The survey confirms our suspicion that the problem, nationwide, is staggering. The results ring out a strong message for all police to be alert for stolen equipment and materials."

This survey is in line with a survey conducted by the Southern Illinois Builders Association which indicated that one to two percent of the construction dollar value in Southern Illinois goes to cover losses due to theft and vandalism.

Using loss ratios revealed by the survey, the total amount of $722,300,000 is divided into burglary and vandalism losses — $45,000,000 and $677,300,000.

Equipment theft (45.5 percent), $328,600,000. Material theft (22.3 percent), $151,120,000. Total theft (67.8 percent), $479,720,000. Equipment vandalism (23.2 percent), $167,920,000. Material and project vandalism (9.0 percent), $64,660,000.

Total Vandalism (32.2 percent), $232,580,000. For the first time, the construction industry believes it has nationwide loss figures based on highly accurate data.

"The figures — that do not include specialty contractor or single-family home builder losses — can be used as the major single reason why contractors, law enforcement officials and the general public should become aware of and participate in all efforts to reduce crime in the nation's largest industry. The ultimate costs of our losses are borne by all," Hardesty said.

A reward program, up to $5,000, is offered by the Southern Illinois Builders Association Industry Advancement Foundation as part of the crime prevention program of the association.

A Crime Prevention Committee acts as a clearing house for new methods and techniques on crime prevention. The committee also compiles reports of theft and vandalism, and revises and updates the SIBA crime prevention program on a continuing basis.

Serial numbers may curb construction equipment theft

The Associated General Contractors of America publishes a booklet for law enforcement officials describing the location of serial numbers on most construction equipment, and the Southern Illinois Builders Association has made this publication available to Illinois state police, the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police, the National Automobile Theft Bureau and FBI offices throughout Illinois.

Theft and vandalism losses in the construction industry totaled $722,300,000 during 1977. The AGC Crime Prevention Committee bases the figure on a survey — the first of its kind in the construction industry — of 40 AGC chapters representing 3,475 contractor members.

More than 2,000 separate incidents of burglary, theft, robbery, arson and vandalism involving construction equipment and materials are reported to police in Illinois annually.

The cost to the Illinois construction industry in reported stolen or damaged items is $3 billion annually. An inestimable amount of smaller thefts goes unreported.

"It's relatively easy to seal off construction sites," according to Leonard Boyer, director of industrial relations for the Southern Illinois Builders Association, who heads up the association crime prevention efforts.

"When times are hard," he adds, "it's not hard to get rid of stolen equipment."

"One of the most common targets of thieves is a backhoe, which is similar to a small farm tractor. It's a fast-moving piece of equipment," Boyer said.

"There's a ready market for them, either to other contractors or through a fence or a legitimate dealer."

"Despite a campaign to alert construction firms about precautions against job site crime, the contractors are their own worst enemy. Often they don't record the serial numbers on their equipment, making it impossible to trace and return stolen items."

"Some contractors also don't seem to want the expense of assigning one person to control inventory, and they don't bother with strict security measures that take time and money."

"The Southern Illinois Builders Association (SIBA) is encouraging its members to install special night lighting, guards, fencing and alarm systems at the job site."

"SIBA makes available signs to be posted at the site offering rewards, up to $5,000 for information leading to the arrest of thieves, vandals and trespassers.

"We also strongly suggest that contractors inventory all equipment, regardless of how big or how small, and record either the manufacturer's serial number or one of their own."

Bullet fired into W. Granite shop

James Phillips, owner of Phillips Barber Shop, 204 Illinois Ave., reported Monday that someone fired a shot through the plexiglass window at his shop, with the projectile crossing the room and striking a large mirror.

Fragments of lead and pyrexia were found on the counter and sinks. Police theorized the bullet was a .22 caliber hollowpoint type.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT J. HUEBNER who were united in marriage at St. Elizabeth Roman Catholic Church. Formerly Miss Kathleen Ann Krekovich, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Krekovich, 3600 Wabash Ave.

Kathleen Krekovich and Robert Huebner are wed

Miss Kathleen Ann Krekovich, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Krekovich, 3600 Wabash Ave., and Robert Jeffrey Huebner, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huebner, 44 Terrace Lane, exchanged wedding vows on June 10, at St. Elizabeth Roman Catholic Church.

Large brass urns holding arrangements of yellow spring flowers intermingled with greenery adorned the altar and brass candelabra with burning yellow tapers provided the setting for the 2 o'clock afternoon double ring ceremony performed by Father Kenneth Becker.

Organist Dan Vizer accompanied Miss Kristi Stauffer as she sang, "Colour My World." "We've Only Just Begun," "Evergreen" and "Sunrise, Sunset."

Altar boys Daren St. Ivany and Steven Tritschuh also served as candlelighters, lighting tapers in brass holders which were festooned with greenery and yellow bows.

The prelude and wedding march began with the entry of Dawn Lengle and Matthew Krekovich, a brother of the bride, junior bridesmaid and groomsmen. They were followed by Miss Rhonda Gionko, the groom's cousin and Wally Bergman, Miss Denise Huebner, a sister of the groom, Bob Crews, Miss Lori Montgomery, Dan Krekovich, another brother of the bride, Miss Gayle Plafcan and John Krekovich Jr., the bride's eldest brother.

Miss Kristi Krekovich served as maid of honor for her sister, and was escorted by John Gionko Jr., the groom's cousin, and best man.

The bridesmaids were gowned alike in a soft banana shade of silk silesta designed with open boat shape necklines and capelets which covered the upper arms and contoured deeper in the back.

The full skirts were double tiered with matching fabric for headings of each tier and became fuller as they cascaded to the hemline.

Each attendant wore a fluted picture hat in matching shade of yellow with the exception of the junior bridesmaid who wore a ringlet of silk flowers in her hair.

Colonial bouquets of yellow Sweetheart roses, baby's breath, yellow miniature carnations and variegated pittosporum tied with yellow velvet ribbons were carried by each bridesmaid.

Kristin Novatech, godchild of the bride's parents, served as the flower girl. She wore a floor length white silk silesta frock created with a flowing skirt, edged in lace, and a caplet bodice that criss crossed in the front and tied in a large soft bow at the back.

She wore a halo of white silk flowers and baby's breath in her

Phone calls lead to arrests

Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Beverly) Dagon, 2127 Edison Ave., told police at 4 p.m. Monday, they had been receiving a series of obscene and threatening telephone calls over a period of two or three months from a Granite City man. Several calls were received the previous night, they alleged.

Arrested at his home and charged with disorderly conduct on a complaint signed by Mrs. Beverly Dagon, was John E. Overturf, 20, of 3104 Kirkpatrick Homes. He was released on payment of $35 cash bond at 5:30 p.m. Monday.

At 5:55 p.m. Monday, Mrs. Dagon again called officers and reported her son, Gerald Wayne Clark, 20, of 2801 Nameoki Road, had just left the dwelling after allegedly threatening her husband and kicking down the front door.

Clark came to the Dagon home after providing the cash bond for Overturf and reportedly was angry at the couple for signing a complaint against Overturf, police reported.

Police contacted Clark by telephone and he reported to headquarters at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

He was charged with criminal damage to property and released on payment of $35 cash bond. The complaint was signed by Mrs. Dagon.

Raspberry season has arrived

By CHRIS DÖLL
Area Gardening Adviser

All colors and varieties of raspberries are ripening for home gardener enjoyment. Raspberries may be red, black, purple, or yellow — and each color has its own special flavor and characteristics. All can be grown in Southwestern Illinois.

Black raspberries or "blackcaps" are the most common here.

The main problem in growing blackcaps is a disease called anthracnose. This is the cause of dead berries or dry or brown patches on ripening berries. Canes are also infected and weakened.

A regular spray program started early in the spring helps to prevent this disease and makes for better yields and growth.

Reds are also widely grown. The beautiful fruits are usually less fruitful than the blacks, because of cold injury. But the flavor and color make them worthwhile additions to the menu.

Fall-bearing varieties are available in this color, and may be more productive and easy to grow than the spring crop.

Purples were developed by crossing the reds and the blacks. They have hybrid vigor and require more space between plants. The fruits are large and attractive with a distinctive flavor.

cellent but they lack eye appeal for widespread usage.

They make an excellent "conservation" piece for hobbyist growers and are easy to produce.

All raspberries require ample water at harvest time to produce the biggest, juiciest berries. This situation can be provided by watering or mulching. The mulch will also give week control.

As soon as harvest is completed, prune out and burn the dead fruiting canes. This is part of the sanitation program for disease control.

Spray blackcaps one more time for disease control. Then side-dress with fertilizer to stimulate plant growth for next year's crop.

Youth faces two traffic charges

David K. Patterson, 20, of 125 Voight Place, Mitchell, was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol and disobeying a stop sign at 5:12 p.m. Monday.

Officers alleged Patterson's vehicle went through a stop sign on Maryville Road at Terminal Avenue and a passenger in the auto was seen throwing a beer can from the vehicle.

A carton containing two full cans of beer was reportedly recovered a short distance from where the car was stopped.

Patterson was released upon posting his driver's license. No charges were filed against the passenger.

Seek fellowship inquiries

The Graduate School at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is inviting inquiries about the Danforth graduate fellowships according to David G. Brown, assistant dean. The fellowships will be awarded by the Danforth Foundation in April 1979.

The fellowships are open to all qualified persons who have serious interest in careers of teaching at the college and university levels and who plan to study for a Ph.D. in any field of study common to the undergraduate liberal arts curriculum in the United States, Brown said.

Approximately 60 to 65 fellowship will be awarded to college seniors who are nominated by baccalaureate liaison officers. Another 40-45 awards will be made to Ph.D. graduate students nominated by postbaccalaureate liaison officers, Brown said.

Applicants for the baccalaureate awards must be college seniors and may not have undertaken graduate level programs of study. Deadline for seeking information about campus nomination is Sept. 29, 1978.

According to Brown, the foundation is currently making a special effort to bring qualified persons from racial and ethnic minorities into the profession of teaching. Approximately 25 percent of the awards are expected to go to blacks, Mexican-Americans, native Americans and Puerto Ricans.

The Danforth graduate fellowship is a one-year award, normally renewable until completion of the advanced degree or for a maximum of four years of graduate study.

Fellowship stipends are based on individual need, but they will not exceed $2,500 for single fellows and for married fellows with no children. Married fellows, or "head of households," with one child, may receive up to $3,500, Brown said. There are dependency allowances for additional children. The fellowship also covers tuition and fees up to $4,000 annually.

Additional information concerning the Danforth fellowships may be obtained by contacting David Brown at the SIUE Graduate School, Room 2215 of the John S. Rendelman Building, or by telephoning (618) 692-3011.

Background checks of foster parents

A new program involving criminal background checks of persons who apply for foster parent licenses is now in effect, according to Director Margaret Kennedy of the Department of Children and Family Services. The program implements legislation passed by the 79th General Assembly and signed into law by Governor Thompson.

The new law was drafted by DCFCS because federal right-to-privacy laws barred the child welfare department from obtaining criminal history information on license applicants.

Miss Kennedy said the intent of the program is to protect foster children and strengthen the image of foster parents.

"Over the years, thousands of Illinois families have provided foster care with dedication, competence, and compassion," she said. "Unfortunately, in a few isolated but well-publicized instances licenses were issued to persons who were convicted felons or had long arrest records."

"Such people have hurt children and done damage to the entire foster care system. Background checks should take away their chances to do any further harm."

Miss Kennedy said the checks will be accomplished by obtaining fingerprints of prospective foster parents and forwarding them to the state Department of Law Enforcement. To assure confidentiality, any information gained will be destroyed within 60 days after a licensing decision has been made.

Fingerprint checks will also be made of currently licensed foster parents before a renewal license is issued.

Representatives of the Illinois Foster Parent Association have expressed support for the background checks.

Three secretaries and a faculty member have resigned from Belleville Area College. The Board of Trustees also accepted the request of Dorothy Ehrt for retirement at its mid-June meeting.

Secretaries who resigned were Marcia L. Wild, Sher Hayhurst and Audrian Colbert.

Ron Nesbitt, instructor in English department, resigned effective Aug. 1. He has been ordained as a priest.

Wanda Waller, records and scheduling clerk for instruction, was granted a year's leave of absence beginning Aug. 1, and a temporary leave for Mrs. Jean Eckert, an instructor in nursing education, was approved.

New appointments at Belleville Area College include that of Mark Weber, art instructor for the fall semester to fill a position created by the sabbatical leave of Dale Threlkeld. Weber holds bachelor and master degrees from the University of Wisconsin and Washington University, respectively. He has been a part-time instructor at Belleville Area College and at Maryville College.

Judith Young will be a laboratory technician in the Department of Life and Health Sciences. Mrs. Martin holds a bachelor degree in biology from Illinois College.

Celeste Zalecki, a new counselor, holds a bachelor degree from the University of Illinois and a master degree in counseling education from Illinois State University.

Marilyn J. Young was named secretary to the purchasing agent.

Fireworks hazardous

By MARY RICHARDS Illinois Department of Public Health

With the approach of the Fourth of July, many families are planning to make their Independence Day celebration something special.

Unfortunately, some Illinois families will include fireworks as part of the festivities. Despite their patriotic significance, fireworks present a serious safety hazard, particularly for children.

In spite of the fact that sale or use of fireworks is prohibited in Illinois, except by permit for public display, each year between 150 and 200 Illinoisans are treated at hospital emergency rooms for injuries associated with fireworks.

Nearly 90 percent of the injuries are caused by fireworks privately purchased by individuals. The remainder are treated at public fireworks displays.

Burns and lacerations are the primary types of fireworks injuries.

Despite the danger and illegality of using fireworks, the Illinois Department of Public Health has some tips if they are used.

Fireworks should be used only with extreme caution. Before using any of them, read and follow all warning instructions printed on the label. Remember that fireworks are not toys for children. The sparkler, considered by many as safe for youngsters, generates temperatures between 1,200 and 2,000 degrees F. and can easily ignite clothing.

Do not allow younger children to handle fireworks under any circumstances. They cannot understand the danger involved, and cannot react correctly in case of an emergency.

If you permit older children to use fireworks, be sure they use them only under close adult supervision. Do not allow any running or "horseplay" while the fireworks are being used.

State public health officials want every Illinoisan to have an enjoyable Independence Day celebration. A Fourth of July with no fireworks injuries would add to the enjoyment of all of us.

Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.

Mini watchdog

Q. I am planning to buy a burglar alarm system. I am wondering about one of the components, an ultrasonic detector which uses high, inaudible sound to detect an intruder. I have a small dog who can hear very well and if I have heard it can bother small animals. What do you think? — P.N.

A. The alarm is not going to irritate the dog's ears, and if it irritates the dog when it goes off, the dog is more likely to make you aware of an intruder's presence.

Go pick on Queen Elizabeth

By DICK MAURICE

Add the title "Movie Director" to the already-impressive list of varied entertainment-world credits amassed to date by the incredible Joan Rivers.

That prestigious new title, for the hit movie "Habbit Test," augments the versatile comedy queen's array of credits as a major star of television and supper clubs, as well as a highly regarded TV and motion picture writer, Broadway playwright and best-selling book author.

MAURICE: I understand you are a very insecure person.

RIVERS: Of course! If I were secure, I wouldn't be able to think of any jokes. I'd be sitting home being nothing.

MAURICE: I don't believe that you auditioned for Johnny Carson seven times.

RIVERS: Seven times. And not even to real auditions. The first time they put you up with the real people. And the second time they said, "We'll give the kid another chance."

By the seventh time, I was auditioning for secretaries who were eating lunch. It was very difficult.

MAURICE: Why didn't you quit?

RIVERS: I don't know. I look back and I was so driven. Anybody who has made it in our business is totally driven and totally committed. It never entered my mind to quit.

MAURICE: You had two miscarriages and a tubal pregnancy.

RIVERS: Yes. I really love children. People think it's a joke. I would have had a lot more children.

I am totally thrilled and fulfilled with my daughter. I'm a Beverly Hills scout mother, which is so funny. I just relate well to children. Now I'm trying to adopt.

MAURICE: Is it hard to adopt?

RIVERS: Very hard now. MAURICE: Is it hard because you're in show business or just, hard period?

RIVERS: It's very difficult to adopt, period, because everyone knows now about abortions and about the pill. So there are fewer and fewer illegitimate children, as the term used to be called, being born. And those who are having children are having them because they want them.

I would like an infant. I see women in the supermarket and say, "$25 right now. Give me that kid."

MAURICE: You are so driven. Does it have anything to do with the fact that your brother-in-law died at an early age?

RIVERS: Oh yes. That was a tremendous shock. I don't believe in afterlife. I don't believe in reincarnation. I just believe that this is it. We'd better have a good time.

Maybe there is a heaven. I'm not the one that says let's suffer on Earth because God will take care of us in the next life. I think God put us on this Earth to have as much fun and do as much as we can to stretch ourselves. And I am very aware of that.

MAURICE: I understand that your mother used to spend money like it was going out of style.

RIVERS: Yes. And was Saks happy. My mother came from a very, very wealthy, wealthy, wealthy Russian background. They had literally 12 servants. They had a private summer house just for the children.

And when she came to this country and finally married my father, there was a tremendous difference even though he was a doctor. She spent money always beyond my father's income.

MAURICE: Do people take things personally that you say? You make fun of a lot of people. You say that Jackie Onassis' eyes look like lizards.

RIVERS: Well, they do. I only pick on very big people.

I only pick on Queen Elizabeth. Is she going to care? Is Princess Caroline of Monaco going to care when they say that Joan Rivers said this about you?

I never pick on anybody that in any way can get hurt by it. I'm very careful about that.

MAURICE: At one time you weighed 140 pounds. Now you are so thin. Could you have been fatter as a comedienne being fat?

RIVERS: But I always think I'm fat. Everything I own is black. When I buy a bathing suit, the first thing I say is do I look thin?

MAURICE: Did you ever spend time on a psychiatrist's couch?

RIVERS: Just onstage. I think it would ruin it. It would straighten me out. If I were a happy person, what would I complain about onstage?

MAURICE: I understand that your mother used to spend money like it was going out of style.

RIVERS: Yes. And was Saks happy. My mother came from a very, very wealthy, wealthy, wealthy Russian background. They had literally 12 servants. They had a private summer house just for the children.

And when she came to this country and finally married my father, there was a tremendous difference even though he was a doctor. She spent money always beyond my father's income.

Children's workshop in art

A series of children's workshops in art will be offered this summer at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Sponsored by The Friends of Art and the Art Education Area in the University's department of art and design, the workshops will be for two hours each, morning over a two-week period in July and August.

The workshops will provide experiences in a wide variety of visual art activities suitable for primary or intermediate age children. Drawing, painting, the ceramic and sculpture are just a few of the areas to be explored, accord to Faith Parrish, a certified art teacher in the graduate program in art education, who will conduct the workshops.

The primary workshop is scheduled July 10 to 21 from 9 to 11 a.m.; the intermediate workshop will be July 24 to Aug. 4, also from 9 to 11 a.m. The workshops will be held in Building III, Room 300.

Cost of each workshop is $25 per student, including art supplies. Further information is available by calling the department of art and design, telephone 692-3183.

Chorale ready to travel

The Concert Chorale at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, which will tour Europe this summer, has diversified backgrounds within its membership. Some are not even music majors but still dedicate many hours each week to Chorale practices, a spokesman has commented.

Sylvia Collins is a senior anthropology major who just enjoys singing. She received her bachelor degree this spring and will attend Stanford University in the fall to work toward her master's and doctoral degrees in anthropology.

Another student, Nancy Allison, is majoring in studio art. In addition to her studies, she works as a clerk in the Muro Post Office.

Many Chorale members are dedicated to music. Granite City's Jennie Powderly, a sophomore in music education, worked in Miss Kitty's show at Six Flags Over Mid-America last summer as her way of "staying in shape musically" between university sessions.

Granite City sisters, Cindy and Jeri Johnson, will make their first trip to Europe with the Chorale. Cindy is one of the Chorale's accompanists, and both sisters are majoring in music education.

Two foreign students, Alister Ng, Hong Kong, and Clare Wee, Singapore, will be visiting Europe by way of SIUE. Ng, a graduate music student emphasizing flute performance, will return to the U.S. directly after the Chorale's tour. However, Miss Wee will visit Singapore for the first time in two years to see her family and friends before returning to SIUE in the fall.

The Concert Chorale, under the direction of Leonard Van Camp, will tour England, France, Germany, Austria, Hungary and Italy. The group will perform in many cathedrals and will present programs that consist of both European and American songs.

The Concert Chorale, with a record of numerous awards and recognitions, will begin its 14th season during the 1978-79 academic year.

The DOT also announced allocation of $3,420,688 to Illinois townships and road districts. The total included $42,381 which was allotted to such districts in Madison County.

Adjusting boat trailer

By finding and correcting any changes that have taken place in the way your trailer supports your boat, you could save the boat's bottom from taking on distortions that could affect its performance and handling.

A method recommended by boating experts is to use a triton spatula or other thin stiff tool, and push it tip between the hull and each of the rollers to test the amount of pressure at each point.

Loosen roller adjusting nuts and move them slightly up or down as needed to obtain fairly uniform pressure.

Look at the rollers and bunks under the transom. They should offer support directly under the transom to transfer the motor's weight to the supports without strain on the hull's bottom.

If necessary reposition the boat forward or backward on the trailer to achieve this.

With a pair of wrenches, go over the whole trailer testing each bolt and nut for tightness. When just one is loose, it tends to put more load on the one next to it, which is then more apt to come loose, starting a chain reaction.

Ignore the arguments

By DR. WILLARD ABRAM

Q. We have four children and the rivalry among them is tremendous. Smartest, dumbest — tallest, shortest, fastest, thinnest — dancing, singing, whistling abilities — they argue over everything. I feel compelled to get in on it, arguing right along with them. My husband doesn't. He calmly goes on reading his newspaper, sipping his drink and watching television. I need your suggestions. A. How about joking him?

Q. Why do they cut out things that are said that aren't right on the "Johnny Carson Show?" I hate it when they cut out words on television. There are no kids up at that hour to hear what they say.

A. There are still a number of obscenities that are no-no's on television, regardless of the hour. Consequently, a guest who utters the wrong words will be bleeped or cut.

Brown begins state duties

History was made last week at the state convention of the Illinois Postal Workers Union when J. P. Morgan of East St. Louis was elected president and Stan Brown of Granite City was elected executive vice-president of the 8,000-member organization. It was the first time in the history of the organization that the president and executive vice president have been from the same sectional center.

Morgan won his election by nine votes over Jim Owens from Rockford, with 299 members present and voting.

Brown of the Granite City Post Office won by 66 votes over his opponent, Ralph Fargensen of Aurora.

Brown has been with the Granite City office for the past ten years and has been active in union work. He has held the office of local president, vice-president, steward, and chief steward; he still holds the latter post, and has held the state offices of district representative and sectional center vice-president.

As executive vice-president, Brown will be in charge of education and organization for the IPWU. He will also be responsible for filling in for the president in his absence.

The Illinois Postal Workers Union, a component of the American Postal Workers Union, AFL-CIO, is affiliated with the Illinois State Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations, the state branch of the AFL-CIO.

Shot fired into garage, auto

Thomas Hunt, 2132 Bryan Ave., reported at 5:30 p.m. Monday that someone fired a shot into the side of his garage with the missile penetrating the wall and shattering the rear window of this auto inside. The bullet then ricocheted off the roof.

A man with a rifle had been seen on the porch of a nearby home on several occasions, police learned.

The door to a garage at 2157 Dewey Ave., also appeared to have several bullet holes in it, officers said.

In Memory of DANNY AUSTIN LEWIS, June 20, 1974

Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory and true,
Just the love and sweet devotion Of one who thinks of you,
His memory is more dear today As in the hour he passed away.
Sincerely,
Mother and
All Who Loved Him

In Memory of GORDON D. CASE, June 22, 1977

Just a line of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory, fond and true,
Just a token of love's devotion,
That our heart's still long for you.

The years of his life were numbered,
When the messenger whispered low,
"The Master has come and called for thee."
He answered: "I am ready to go."

In Memory of WILLIAM A. MCAMISH JR., June 21, 1966

WORLD OF...
June is Dairy Month and what better way to celebrate than with the most elegant and versatile of dairy products: Cream! Cream has been known as long as milk (8,000 B.C.) since they're integrated, but early history says nothing of it, perhaps used milk without separating the cream. It wasn't until the nineteenth century that chefs in Rome skimmed cream from three hundred years ago on anonymous Viennese chef scooped cream off the top of milk, whipped it and served it as "Schlagobers," the German word for whipped cream. Although whipped cream is still a favorite as a dessert topping, cream is used by modern cooks to turn ordinary dishes into culinary works of art, as in the case of Charlotte Roussee, "Shrimp Newburg or Salmon Mousse." We have collected several recipes that are sure to make even the most elementary cook seem like a master chef to family and friends. Pick up your free cream recipes this week at your nearby Tri-City Grocery Company Supermarket.
